Knowledge

Is Power

Our modern world is a realm of power. To the imperialistic nations, power is the key which opens all doors. Someday everyone must face the challenge of a world dominated by this principle.

We Seniors are about to cross the threshold of this imposing sphere. Our twofold Catholic education supplies us with the key. The door to success will remain locked to those who fail to utilize their potentials, but for the Centralites who persevere, unlimited opportunities await.

Accompany us now through the pages of our quest and discover the key to all power—knowledge.

Citadel of Learning

On September 3, Central Catholic High School once again opened its portals to the ever increasing student body. This year's enrollment, nearing the one thousand mark, was the largest in Central's history. In order to accommodate the spanking increase in the student population, every nook and corner of the sturdy Luden estate was utilized.

The completion of the elegant new $150,000 home for the Sisters of Christian Charity on December 18 proved a boon for the whole school. The vacated third floor was rapidly transformed into a larger commercial department, a chapel for the students, a new classroom, and more convenient headquarters for the CENTRALMA staff. The added corridor space provided by the acquisition of the third floor for school purposes provided a satisfactory solution to the perennial problem of traffic in the halls between classes.

*His Eminence The Most Reverend JOHN
CARDINAL O'HARA, C.S.C., D.D., Archbishop of Philadelphia*

It was a cold November 30, but faculty, students, and spectators thronged to witness the dedication of the new convent of the Sisters of Christian Charity. Promptly at 2:30, the Most Reverend John F. O'Hara laid the cornerstone and blessed Our Lady of the Assumption Convent.

The event prompted even greater jubilation, for a week earlier Pope John XXIII had appointed Archbishop O'Hara a member of the Sacred College of Cardinals.

John Cardinal O'Hara was born in Ann Arbor, Michigan, May 1, 1888. He attended the Jesuit Colegio del Sagrada in Uruguay, Notre Dame University, Seminary of the Congregation of Holy Cross, and the Catholic University of America. Among the various positions Cardinal O'Hara has held are the presidency of Notre Dame University, membership in the U.S. delegation to the English Inter-American Congress, Titular Bishop of Mylasa, Military Delegate, Auxiliary Bishop of the Army and Navy Diocese, membership in the Board of Visitors of the U.S. Naval Academy, Bishop of Buffalo, vice-presidency of the Permanent Committee on International Eucharistic Congresses, and Archbishop of Philadelphia.

The Right Reverend Monsignor EDWARD M. REILLY, J.C.D., LL.D.

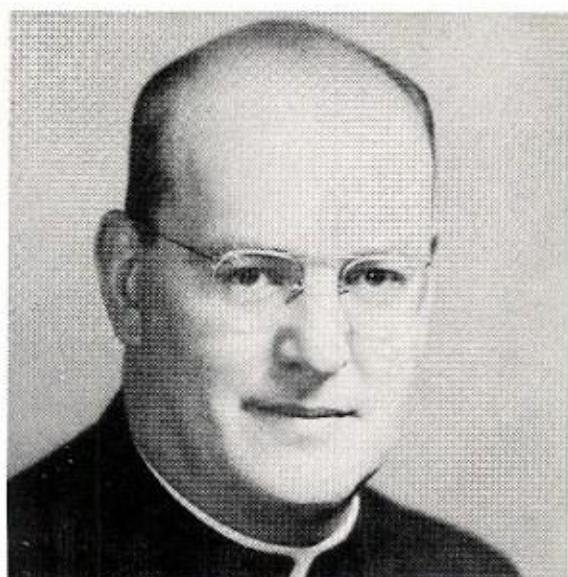

The intricate workings of our Catholic educational system can be attributed to the zeal of the Right Reverend Monsignor Edward M. Reilly, who assumes the responsibility of the Diocesan Superintendent of Schools. His work in encouraging and furthering Catholic education has established for him a place of respect and admiration in the hearts of faculty and students alike.

After his ordination in 1936, Monsignor Reilly pursued post-graduate work at the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. It was in November, 1945, that he took upon himself the enormous duty of Diocesan Superintendent of Schools for the Archdiocese of Philadelphia. Since that time, he has proved himself many times capable of handling this difficult but rewarding task. He is truly an adept and worthy successor to the line of expert superintendents whose broad scope of vision and attentiveness to detail have made our diocesan school system second to none.

Monsignor Reilly's tremendous interest in our Catholic education, along with his very gracious personality, show his dedicated spirit to this worthy cause, and for this we all are deeply grateful.

Educators of the Present Day

REVEREND HENRY J. HUESMAN

It was the opening day of school. Father Huesman, vestment clad, culminated the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass and turned to the student body assembled in the gym. With a firm voice he imparted to us a few thoughts and spiritual lifts to spur us on to higher goals during our school year.

As chaplain of the Catholic Committee on Scouting of Berks County, he was responsible for the Teachers' Day held at Camp Shikellamy on September 9. He delivered an address on "The Church, Home, School, and Scouting". He holds an avid interest in scouting and hopes to secure the help of parochial school teachers in gathering recruits for various local troops.

Father is sure to appear in Office 3 four times each year to assume his duty as official report card distributor of St. Paul's Parish. As rector of Central, he is vitally interested in the temporal as well as spiritual progress of his flock.

The Serra Club, an organization of Catholic Laymen who foster religious vocations among youth, is proud to claim Father Huesman as their spiritual director. Civic organizations have always found him more than willing to lend a helping hand to his community, as is witnessed by his many speaking engagements.

For his untiring efforts in making Central a school of which we can be proud, he will have our gratitude always. We sincerely hope that God grants him many more fruitful years in his service.

Are Preparing Citizens

REVEREND RAYMOND J. LEICHNER

Because of the untiring efforts of our principal, Father Raymond Leichner, many new additions were added to the school this year. Hot summer days found him presiding over the transformation of Room 204 into an ultra-modern biology laboratory.

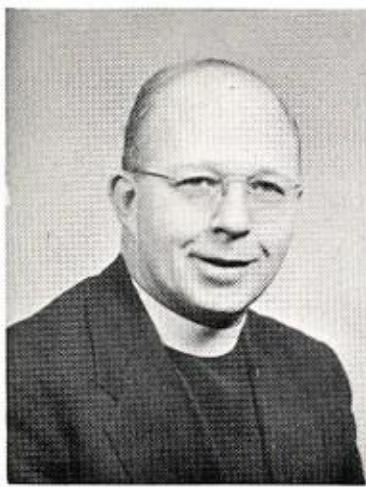

Not one of us can overlook the tremendous energy Father has put into the Our Lady of the Assumption Convent. Countless times he sacrificed his leisure hours to oversee or work upon some facet of its construction. His tireless attempts to make the new home of the Sisters a thing of beauty and simplicity have certainly been rewarded.

But, as always, Father's main interests were centered around the student body. During the first week in December he attended the Catholic Educational Association of Pennsylvania Convention in Pittsburgh to catch up on the latest in teaching techniques.

The field of education is progressing rapidly, and Central is in line with the best of schools because of Father's expert direction. To ascertain our standard, Father welcomed the members of the Middle Atlantic States Evaluation Committee who spent April 7, 8, and 9 at Central.

In his seven years as principal, Father has watched the enrollment soar to an all-time high, but he has managed to find time and place for everyone. Whole-heartedly devoted to his vocation and ever zealous for Central's good reputation, he keeps a fatherly eye on the study habits, discipline, and spiritual progress of the entire student body.

Who Are Not Strangers to Life

Increased enrollment necessitated a like increase in faculty. Eight new instructors, holding degrees from various universities, appeared among the familiar faces. Sisters of Christian Charity welcomed four new sisters into their group; the Bernardine Sisters, three; and the Franciscan Sisters, one.

In October, several teachers toured local industries as a part of Education Business Industry Day. A. D. Eisenhower High School, Norristown, claimed Father Dickert a member of the evaluating committee for the week of November 17. Sister Rosa and Sister Roselda participated in a panel discussion—Is there “a method” in teaching modern languages?—at the Pennsylvania Convention on Catholic Education. Christmas holidays found Sister Joseph Marie in Washington, D. C. attending the National Science Convention. Cold February breezes carried Father Fricker to the Milton Hershey Industrial School to serve on the evaluating board. Sister M. Alethia and Sister M. Magdalene attended the Columbia Press Conference in March.

In Their Own Country.

Familiar faces sometimes become accepted things; without any thought, the students find themselves taking for granted the services extended to them by our lay faculty.

A newcomer in September, Mr. John Savage has assumed an important role in forming future ambassadors of Catholic Action. West Philadelphia Catholic High School for Boys claimed him as a graduate of the class of 1954. He then matriculated at Saint Joseph's College, where he majored in accounting. 1958, his Senior year, found him captain of the varsity basketball squad. He found an outlet for his athletic adeptness as coach of the Freshman football and Junior Varsity basketball teams here at Central. Freshmen are proud to have him as a world history and civics instructor.

SPORTS

"Sports can and must be also in the service of God."
(Pope Pius XII)

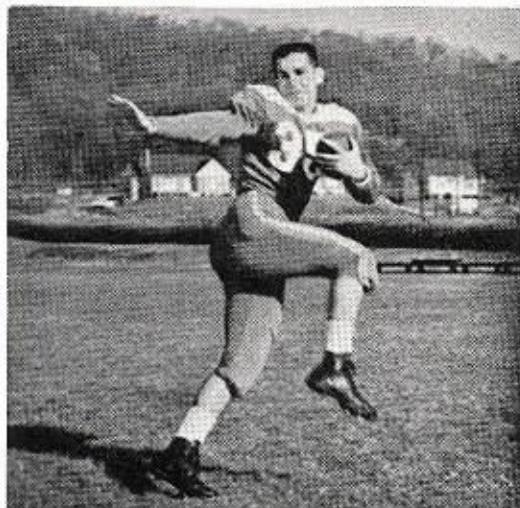

Sports are a school of loyalty, courage, tolerance, resoluteness, and universal brotherhood, all natural virtues which have prepared us to support without flinching the weight of the gravest responsibilities. Through moderate and conscientious practice we submitted our bodies to the rigorous and often harsh discipline that kept them truly in subjection: Arduous training and strict temperance were indispensable conditions for those of us who reached for victory. Supporting the team through wins and losses, we displayed proverbial "fair play", that chivalrous and courteous emulation which elevates the spirits above the meanness of cheating. We realized that athletics are not an end but a means; therefore, we dedicated our physical endeavors to the service of God.

August 18, 1958 found St. Lawrence Stadium a scene of mixed emotions. Prospective football candidates were reluctant to cast aside the leisure of summer living, but anxious to ready themselves for the task ahead. Coaches Steve and Andy Hydock were afforded the perennial enigma of developing the inexperienced and grooming the veterans.

Faced with a rugged ten game schedule, the Cards quickly buckled down to the strenuous preparation. As the opening of the regular season approached, the club sported a powerful line and a small but deceptive backfield.

In the first two contests the Cardinals personified their ability to work as a single and powerful unit by compiling an impressive 47 points to the opponents' 6. However, in their next two outings an inability to properly define "confidence" and "despair" proved fatal to the Cards. From then on, having regained their psychological equilibrium, the Hydock-men either won or lost with their feet on the ground and their hearts in the game.

The Red Birds posted a season mark of 4 wins against 5 defeats and secured fourth place in the East Penn Catholic League. But what the record doesn't show, the players do; success to them isn't black and white.

Central—Bishop Egan

Bruising line play accented the initial engagement of the '58 season, as the Cards rolled to a convincing 33-6 rout over their Bishop Egan foe of Levittown. An impressive crowd of two thousand watched Central capture the first meeting between these schools. The excitement for the afternoon was provided by Cardinal backs J. Borst, who tallied three times, and R. Druzba and B. Garvie who each registered lone scores.

Inspiration and determination, as incited by Coach Steve Hydock, serves as foundation of second-half rally.

Power-plus keynotes M. Raszkiewicz's surge from the faltering grip of Lancaster defenders.

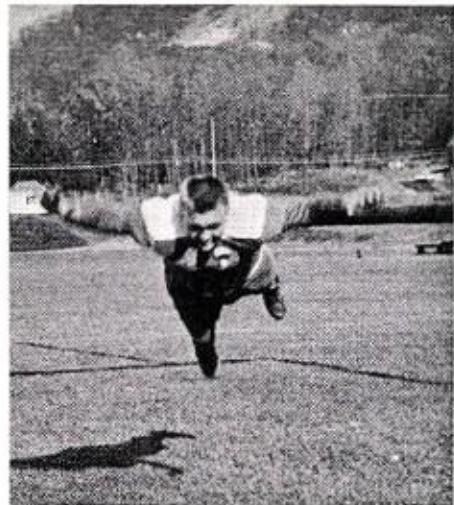

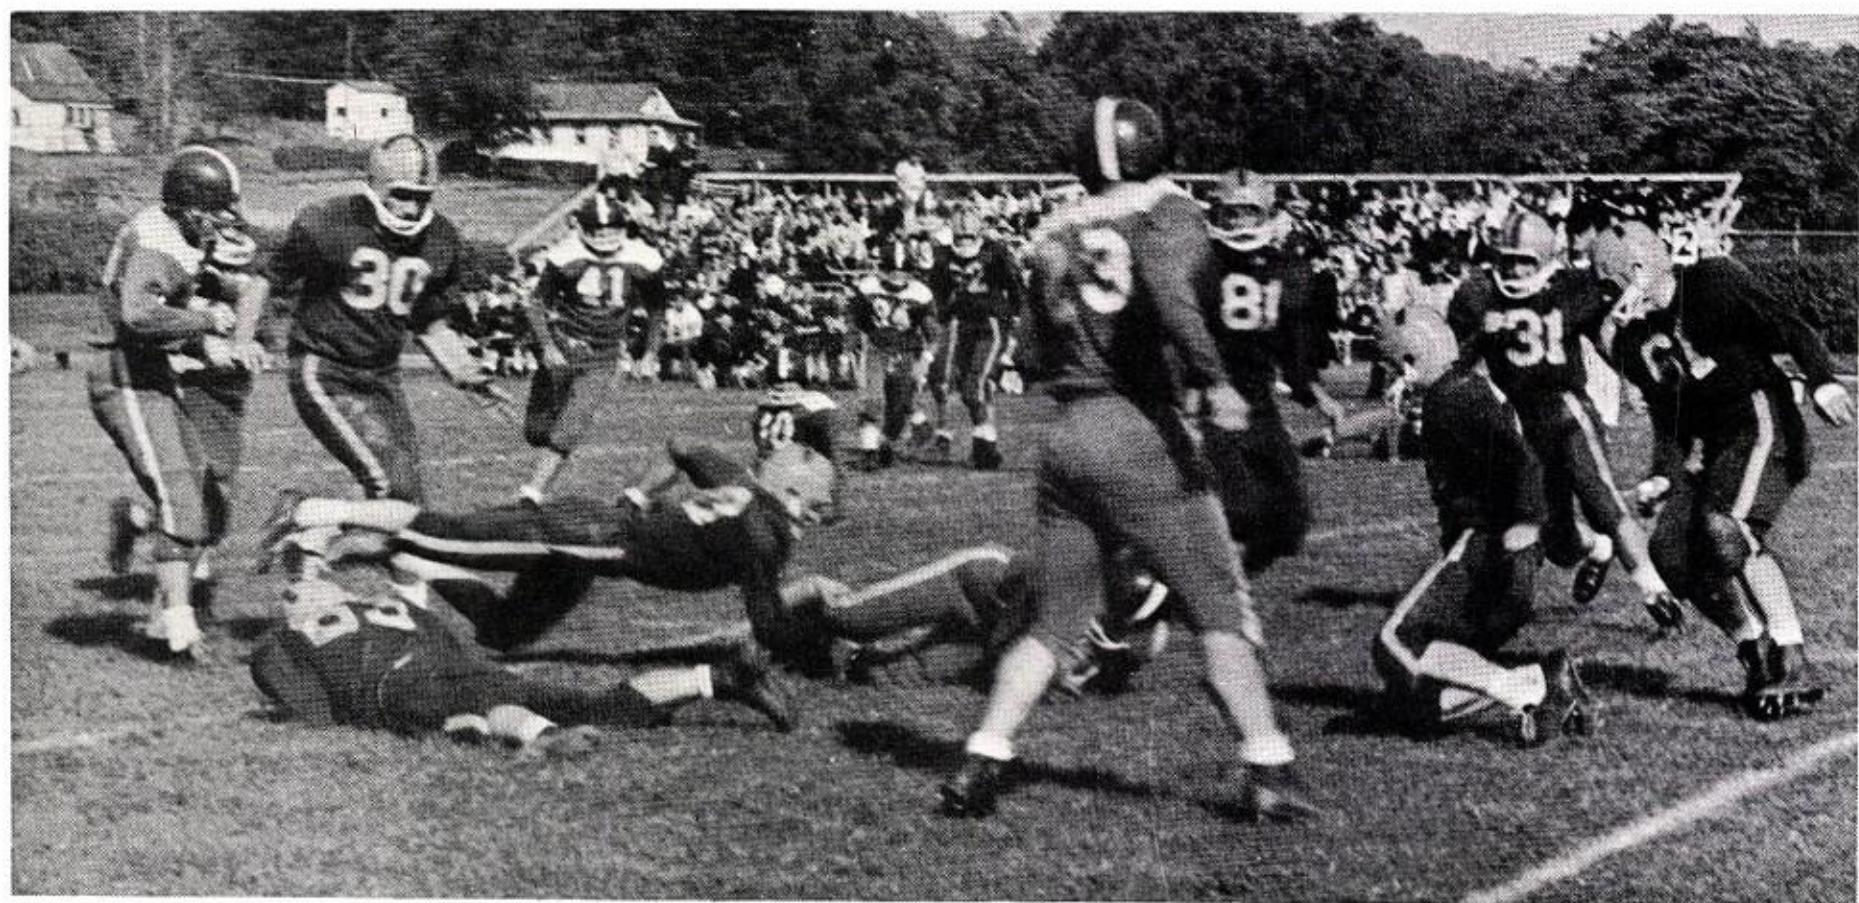

A side feint, executed as a final attempt to elude hopeful Notre Dame tackler, appears futile.

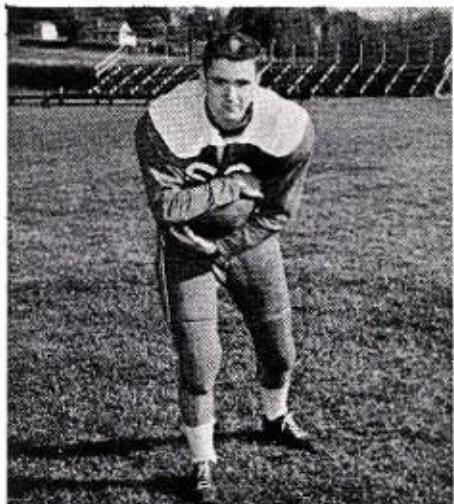

Central—Notre Dame

In their meeting with the Crusaders of Easton, the Cards' defensive team fulfilled their reputation by holding the Notre Dame eleven to only forty-eight yards and two first downs. While doing so, the Cards' offense, behind the sparkle of sophomore M. Raszkiewicz, ran off two tallies to cop the decision. The win was the Cardinals' second of the season and first in the E. P. C. L. ranks.

Cardinal carrier T. Glembocki picks up sufficient ground for first down then drops before onslaught of rushing Crusaders.

A gaping hole provided by quarterback B. Adams offers Cardinal B. Garvie assurance of additional yardage.

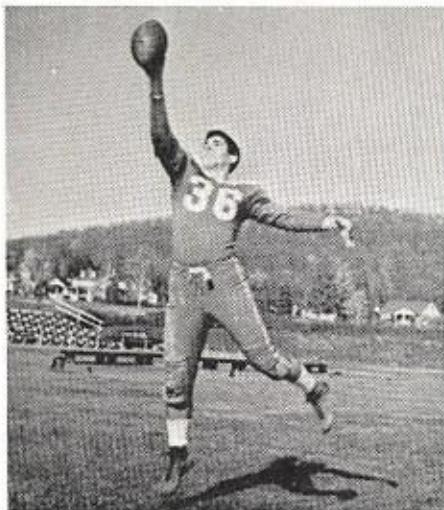

Central—Bishop Kenrick

The Red and White juggling a precarious one point lead, dropped it in the waning moments to a powerful Bishop Kenrick squad. The Cards dominated play in the initial segment, but could not muster a tally. J. Doyle claimed a loose ball in the Bishop's end zone to give Central their edge. His efforts were nulled in the fourth period by a Kenrick T.D., setting the final score at 14-7.

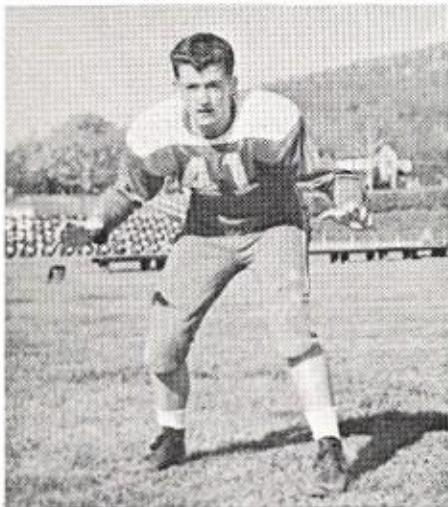

Central—Salesianum

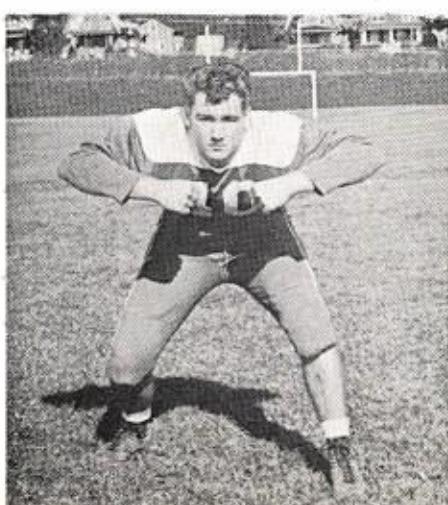

Failure to capitalize on three first quarter drives proved fatal to the Central eleven as they dropped a 12-0 decision to an undefeated Wilmington crew. The Sallies scored in the second and third cantos behind a two hundred pound plus forward wall. The Red Birds came closer to scoring against the Salesianum group than any other team in two years. The victory was Salesianum's fourth in a series of six with the Hydockmen.

Sparkling defense and a spotty offensive showing helped the Red Birds snap a two game losing skein by downing the Pottsville scholastics 15-0. Quarterback B. Adams passed one touchdown and scored another to gain the Cardinal gridders undisputed possession of second place in the East Penn loop. Junior J. Stengel capped the verdict with a fourth period safety against the shattered Schuylkill Countians.

Central—St. Matthew

Two quick touchdowns in the opening five minutes of action, allowed the St. Matt's Mirrors to continue their annual jinx over the Central crew. Before the period ended, a Cardinal drive spearheaded by B. Adams netted the Red Birds' only score of the contest. The Hydockmen threatened several times in the second half but failed to find paydirt.

Central—Bishop McDevitt

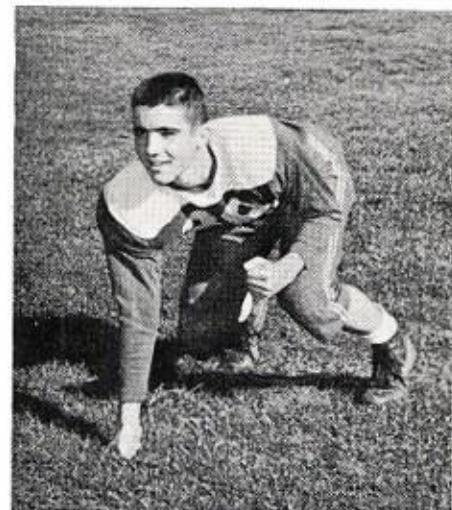

The Cardinals suffered their fourth defeat of the season in a one-sided contest to the powerful Harrisburg Crusaders. The Red and White unable to recover from a humiliating first half, received a sound 31-0 shellacking. Central held its own in the second half, but found it impossible to challenge the impressive Harrisburg lead.

Chip Styer

Central—Allentown Catholic

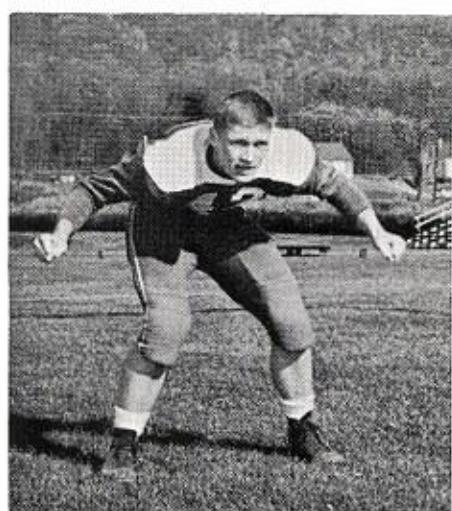

In their encounter with Allentown Central, the Red Birds found little offensive headway as the Vikings' stalwart defense held the Cards pointless throughout the entire wager. A pair of Allentown scores in both the second and third quarter provided the twenty-five point margin of difference. In faltering at the hands of the Vikings, Central continued its previous form of dropping all away tilts.

George Young

Central—Lancaster Catholic

The Cards put on their finest offensive display of the season as they romped Lancaster Catholic to the tune of 35-13. The 1958 final capped a season which saw Central win its four home games and drop its five away tiffs. Scoring laurels went to B. Adams who tallied twice, and M. Raszkiewicz for his forty yard kickoff return. Lone touch-downs were registered by B. Garvie and T. Anker.

An encompassing view of team effort is afforded in P.A.T. conversion attempt by R. Stanislaw.

Hardwoods Afire

With the onset of the '59 campaign expectations for an improved Cardinal quintet rode high on the crest of last year's staggering performance. Supplied with one returning veteran and a host of promising jay-vee lettermen, Coach Joey Schaaf was afforded the enigma of buffing out blemishes in preparation for their initial engagement. A local preseason scribe's poll established the junior dominated squad as too young and inexperienced to figure in any post-season playoff activity.

Aggressiveness finds expression in G. Post's attempt to snare loose sphere during Reading High fray.

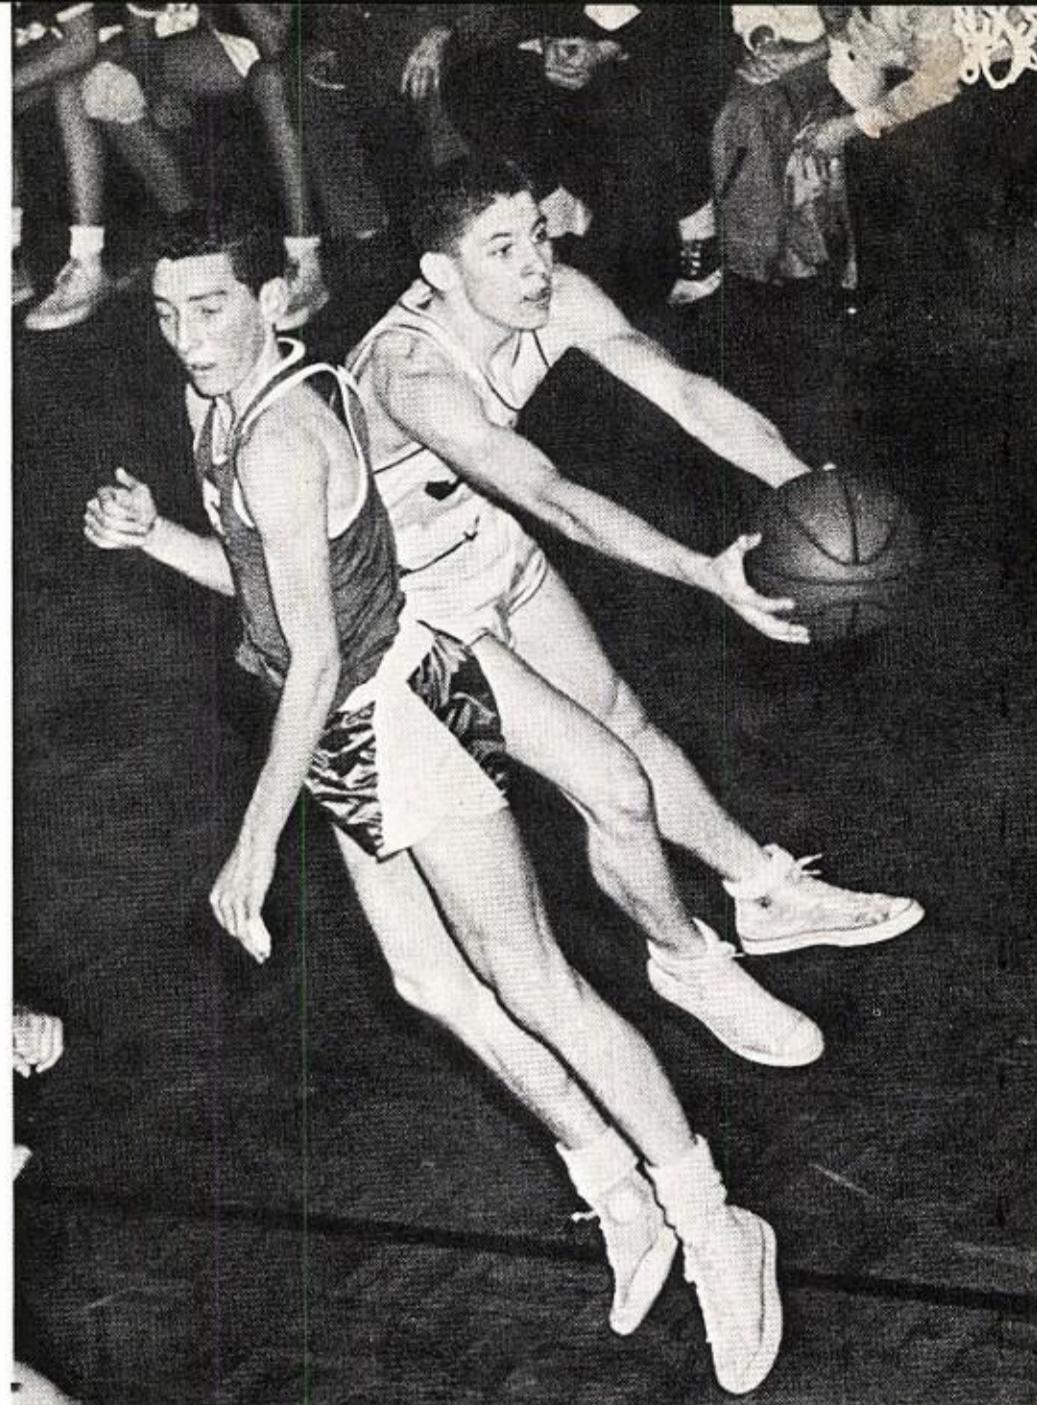

In initiating their 25 game log the Cards met with their first setback at the hands of an underated Bishop Egan foe. In the ensuing meetings the quintet generally sparkled while entertaining on their home hardwoods but sported a rather spotty record for visiting engagements. This, however, was overshadowed by the Cards clean sweep of first half E.P.C.L. honors that was highlighted by a squeaking 70-68 mastery of an able Bishop Kenrick opposition. Another diamond in the rough for Coach Joey Schaaf in early season play was their capture of the mythical city championship from Reading High School for the second time in the nine year history of the series.

The harvest of second half labors seemed even less rewarding with a chain of consecutive reverses, but the Redmen bounced back to salvage the situation by tying up the league tiara with an unblemished slate.

Inspired with an intense desire for victory, the Cards then entered their first match in the playoff eliminations against the favored "Atoms" of Shenandoah Catholic. Coordinating both spirit and movement, the Cardinals walked off as the impressive 56-50 victor.

Advancing to the next round, the Cards were paired with perhaps the strongest unit in eastern competition, Allentown Central Catholic. The Vikings' polish and experience outweighed the somewhat bewildered Cardinals to the scale of 59-29 and thereby completed the Cards' '59 canto with a highly respectable 11-16 record.

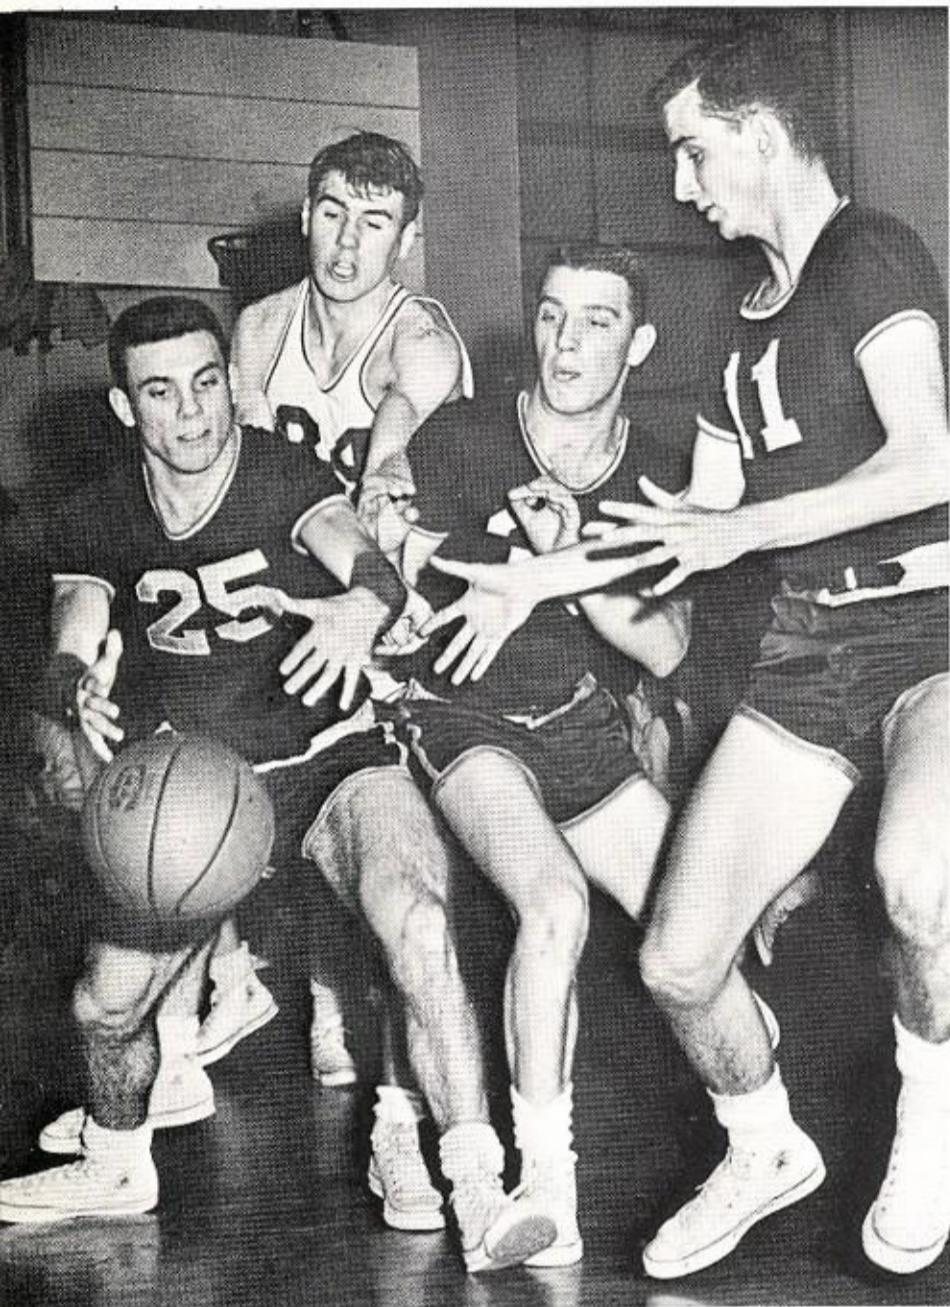

A new angle on lay-ups is given by Card's M. Schorn in drive against Nativity foe.

A wall of Kenrick Bishops checkmate Cardinal G. Post before hastening to recover floating ball.

Mid-game glimpse of locker room activity indicates obvious need for coach's tactical revamping.

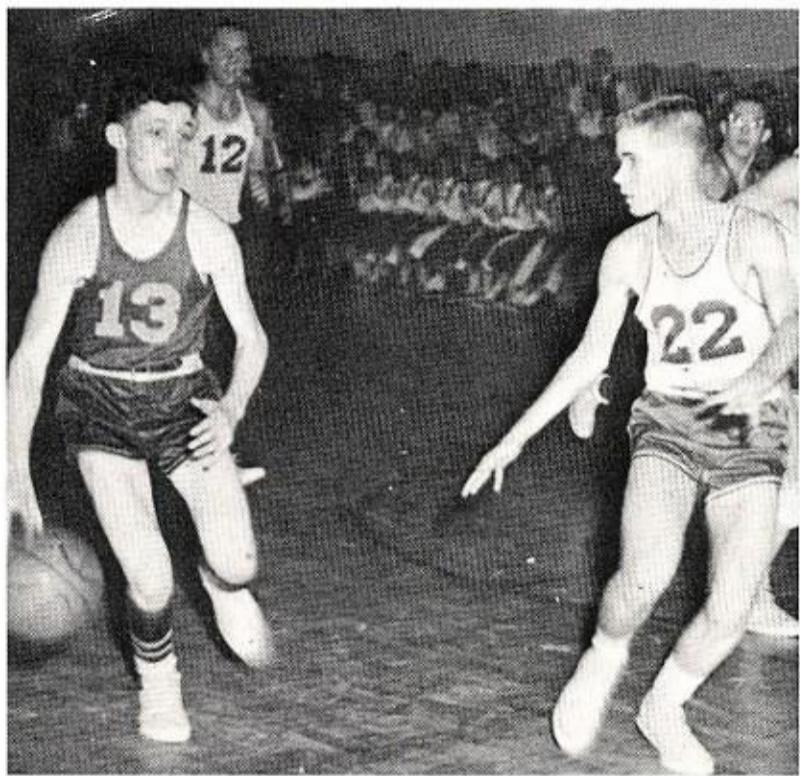

B. Adams soars high to pull down offensive recovery while Card's J. Murphy scurries after follow-up.

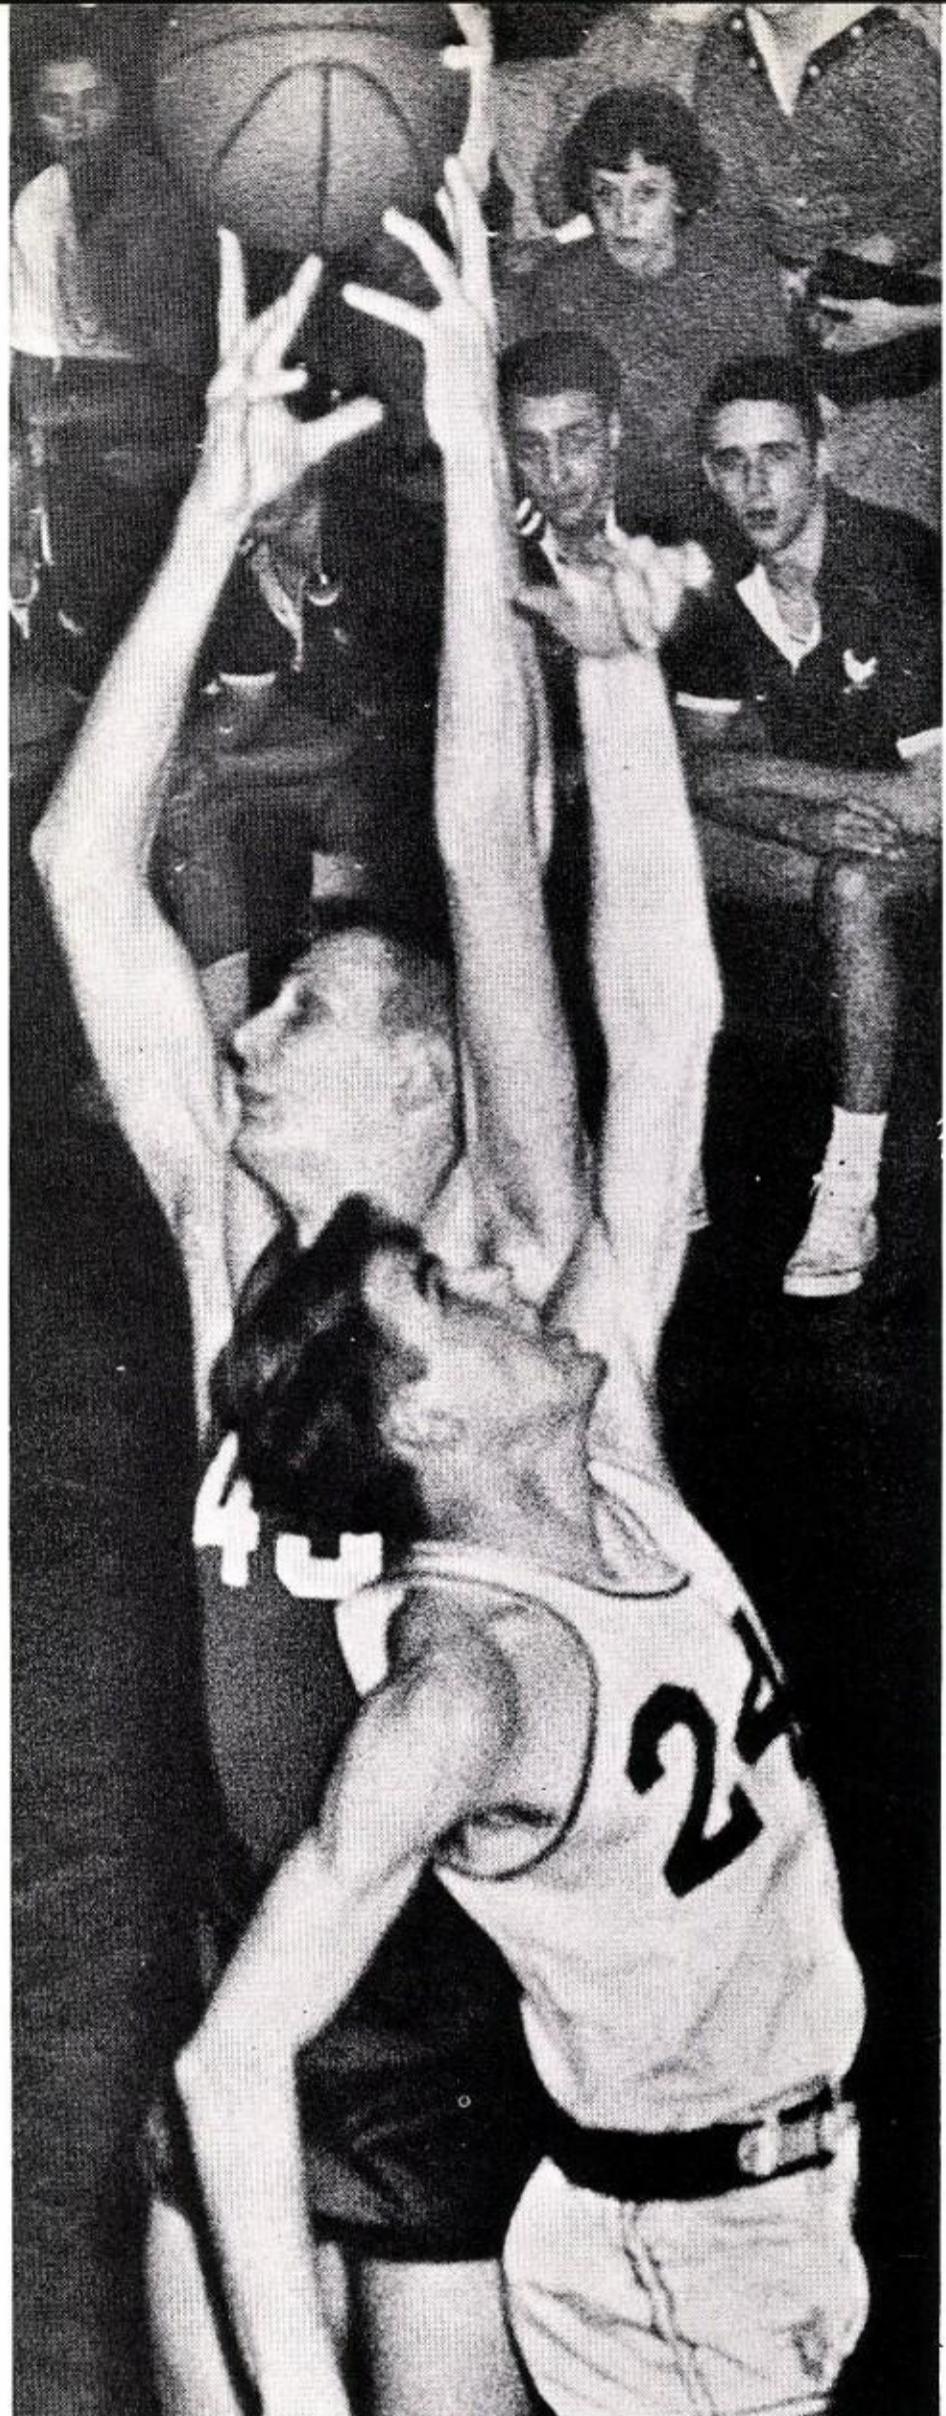

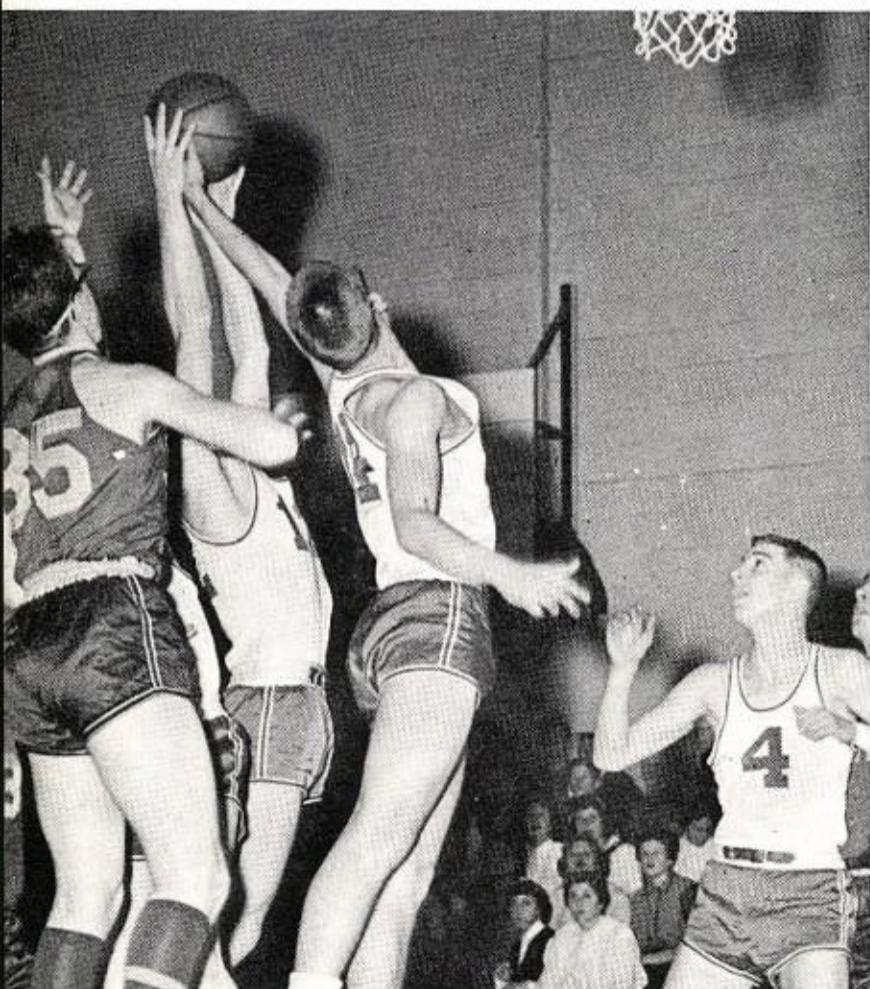

Progressions of a climatic roof raising cheer centering about Yarby, the school mascot, are shown here in infant stages.

A well calculated side step by junior J. Magee frustrates a Nativity drive.

Outstretched arms of Cardinals B. Adams and V. Eckel quickly rip off rebound as it leaves the irons.

Cardinal G. Post's efforts find him "bending-over-backward" in the attempt to capture claimed ball.

Once again in '59, as in the two previous seasons, the fledgling Baby Cardinals have bettered their elder counterparts by compiling a 15-10 log. The laudible success which "young blood" lacks is often more than offset by an unquenchable thirst for self-confirmativeness and a freshness in action and ideal which seems to be better able to cope with the increasingly trying demands of high school basketball. The Cards had such a person in their coach Jack Savage who could accomplish with a pawn what it would take another a queen. Another factor both the cost and result of success was the increased attendance of both Centralites and the fans at Jay-Vee contests. The Cards most impressive victory came over highly regarded York Catholic in the waning seconds of a hard fought contest. The Cardinal Five also experienced their share of defeat but found none perhaps so irksome as the two humblings they were dealt by their arch rival, Bishop Kenrick. These two setbacks resulted in dropping them into second place in the junior division of the E. P. C. L.

Scoring honors for the season went to Larry and Ronny Thren with 238 and 224 points respectively. These Jay-Vees, who strove so hard for ultimate success and recognition in the form of varsity acceptance and participation, will probably never again experience the joy and satisfaction which now is theirs.

Red Bird's B. Adams finds probing arms irksome in his attempts to maneuver amidst a host of Lancaster defenders.

A quick, fast break pass from E. Dolan provides D. Trout with an easy two-point dividend.

Sporting a determined squad of six seniors and two underclassmen, Miss Illuzzi's Cardinalettes plunged into their fourteenth season with great anticipation and unyielding pertinacity.

The lassies breezed through their first encounter, tripping St. Matts, 42-28. Perhaps overconfident after winning seven straight, the queens then fell prey to Lebanon, 28-33. Nevertheless, the basketeers avenged their black spot by downing Cardinal Dougherty, 56-49.

After toppling Nativity and St. Matts by breathtaking figures of 54-53 and 40-38 respectively, the word victory seemed to be synonymous with these gals.

However, the last game jitters overcame the lassies when they fell victim to previously beaten Dougherty 63-53, and thereby culminated the '59 season with a laudable 10-2 record.

Varsity: First Row: J. McGettigan, E. Dolan, C. High, J. Carrigan, M. O'Brien, J. Eckel. Second Row: D. Trout, Miss Illuzzi, Coach, E. Ertel. Third Row: C. Gantert, J. Speece.

Diamond Setting

A grim look on the face of M. Raszkiewicz reveals impending tenseness of approaching inning.

The inevitable era of revamping has once again pervaded the diamond scene as a result of the departure of five Card's Lettermen. There are, however, a number in the ranks of the hopefuls whose promising talents will be relied upon heavily as a compensating factor. Among these underclassmen are mound mainstays B. Dengler and J. Magee, fielders J. Daley and N. McLaughlin, and battery M. Raszkiewicz. Nevertheless, in their first few encounters Coach J. McLaughlin and team will lean hard on the performances of veterans H. Sharpley and G. Young.

An attempted sacrifice finds G. Young caught in the act during intra-squad wager.

H. Sharpley is shown in a "behind the screen" glimpse of batting warm-ups.

ACTIVITIES

" . . . the role and object of Christian education is the formation of the perfect Christian."

(Pope Pius XII)

Realizing that many of the important lessons for living a full, well-balanced life are imbibed outside the formal class periods, our faculty combined forces to give us a varied extra-curricular program. Future diplomats and businessmen became versed in the rudiments of parliamentary procedure. Debates, extemporaneous talks, original oratory, and declamation sharpened thought and stimulated healthy competition. Young journalists became aware of the value of time in meeting the deadlines for HILLSIDE ECHOES. Staff members of CENTRAL-MA soon understood the necessity of teamwork in the production of a yearbook. While each club and organization strengthened a particular ability, all of them aided us to grasp the full meaning of the ideal Christian life we are to show the world.

The installation of officers resumed diplomatic relations between students and faculty, when, on October 2, fifty-three boys and girls became the students' voice in the government. With newly acquired dignity they recited the pledge and assumed the responsibilities of representation.

Planning dances, renewing records for the cafeteria jukebox, and policing corridor traffic provided the brunt of their duties. Members of the Student Association also represented the student body at the dedication of the new convent.

In his capacity as school president, Bill Garvie attended several dinners. Among these was the Rotary Club Banquet at which he delivered a brief address. Portraying Santa Claus at the Mothers' Club Christmas Party was but another of the many activities on our busy prexy's schedule.

Just for the Records

"THE POPE SPEAKS" and Centralma's copy staff listens. Our divider pages, senior section, and end page echo the masterful expressions of the late pontiff, Pius XII.

Developing the theme "Knowledge is Power" provided many a challenging afternoon. For the first time the spine of our book sported "Centralma 1959" in gold letters. Dividers of art work were another innovation.

Sister M. Magdalene, our new advisor, moderated the panel "Case Histories" at the Villanova Publications Conference on October 4 which we all attended. Frank was chairman of this panel devoted to the development of the yearbook. Actor Eddie Dowling delivered the main address of the day.

The halls of Central buzzed with excitement on February 21 when we sponsored our fifth annual Publication Conference. The film strip "Police Reporter" preceded the enlightening yearbook and newspaper discussions.

In the midst of moving gear from Room 22½ to the third floor, word came of our school's meriting the George Washington Honor Medal from the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, with the help of last year's annual edited by Terry McGlenn.

Armed with limited after-school time, perseverance, and the desire to excel, Sister M. Alethia and her hard-working crew turned out a top notch publication which merited: . . . an All-Catholic rating from the Catholic Scholastic Press Association. . . . the Keystone Award from the Pennsylvania Scholastic Press Association. . . . the Quill and Scroll "A" and International Honor Award from the Quill and Scroll. . . . the Medalist Award from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. . . . a 1st Class rating from the National Scholastic Press Association.

Editor-in-chief Joe McDermott participated as a speaker at the Villanova Publications Conference while Sister M. Alethia was moderator of the panel. Several staff members attended the Boyertown Conference in October.

Two Keystone awards went to Judy Zitter for her outstanding feature writeups. One of her prize-winning articles appeared in the P. S. P. A. News.

Debate

Original oratory, extemporaneous speeches, debate, and declamation contests were waged and won early in the year. In the Inter-Diocesan Tournament, Noela Slapikas, George Young, Dennis Angelisanti, and Carl Putz headed the list of those eligible for national competition.

Supervising preparation for the annual National Catholic Forensic League Tournament at Washington, D. C. on May 7 and 8 was Father Schulte. He and Father Forst accompanied the ten Centralites who piled up 145 points—the highest ever scored by one school—to win the Francis Cardinal Spellman First Place Trophy.

Special credit goes to Peter Fox, third place in oratorical declamation and George Young, fifth place in the same category. In the first session of the Student Congress, Joseph McDermott reigned as Speaker of the House.

Other high point makers were John Magenbauer, Dennis Angelisanti, Timothy Roth, Kathleen Martin, and Carl Putz.

Drum Majorette

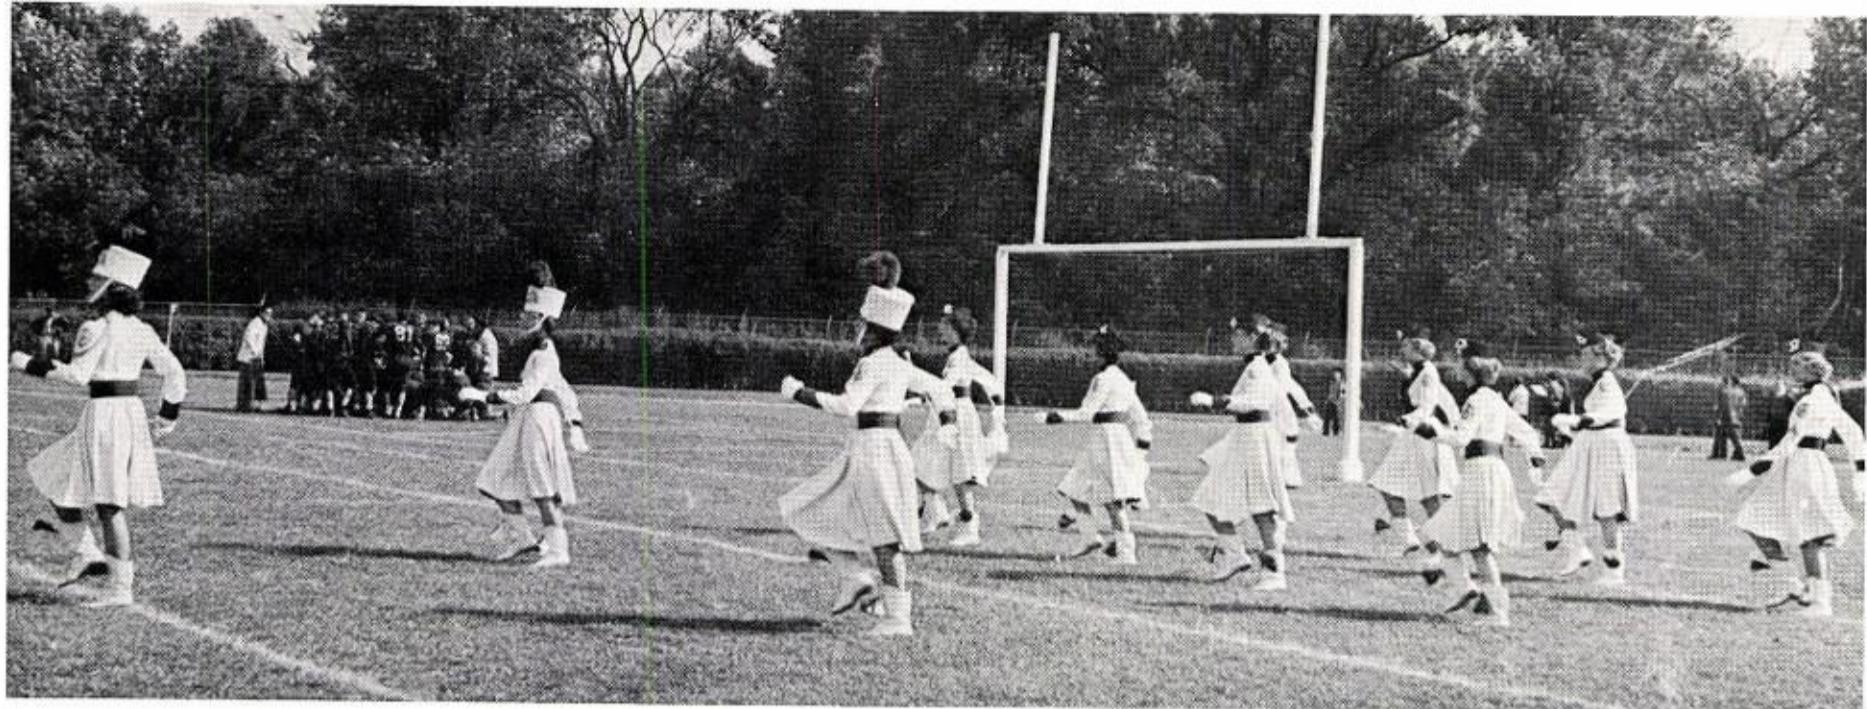

November saw the first issue of this year's "Sharps and Flats" roll through the printing press. Editor Louise Taubitz and assistants Jane Stieff and Ann Dragan head the staff in its second year in the publication business.

The precision marching band, under the student directorship of Ann Dragan and Harry Ketterer, the snappy majorettes, and the color guard provided delightful entertainment during football halftimes. They also exhibited their talents through participation in the Veterans' Day Parade in November and the religious Christmas Parade on December 9. Patricia Bomba and William Rehr led the assembly band in spirited songs at the various assemblies of the school year.

Since the new convent has sprung up on the Eckert Avenue stamping grounds, the marching units were forced to move drilling quarters a few blocks away to the Kesher Zion Synagogue grounds. Despite this handicap, Father Zolondek and the Music Department never failed to present an excellent performance.

The marching band takes over the field at half-time.

Majorettes add a touch of color while the team plans its strategy for the ensuing game.

With the shrill ring of the 8:35 bell, spirited Centralites hurried to the meetings of their bi-weekly clubs. The new Wednesday morning agenda affords an opportunity to spend the activity periods in constructive work.

For each language there was a club devoted to its development. Plays, games, and songs aroused enthusiasm and developed greater skill in students' conversational ability. Journalism Clubs prepared underclassmen for important positions on school publications. Interesting math and science information not prescribed for daily class periods, could be gleaned in their respective clubs. Personality Club offered to the "Debutees" tips on personality and grooming, while Career Club for Girls endeavored to answer those puzzling after-graduation queries.

Members of the Red Cross Club who showed outstanding cooperation were eligible to compete for a week's training in Red Cross at Hood College. The success of the Pep Club in furthering school spirit through eye-catching posters cannot be overlooked.

The ideas of Catholicity bore fruit as we endeavored to put them into practice. Ample opportunity to live as better Catholics was afforded us by varied helps. By conscientiously practicing Catholic Action, we can do our part in combating enemies of our faith. Personal sanctification of the individual goes hand in hand with such work.

Following the migration of the Sisters to their new convent, the upstairs' chapel became a haven for those of us who wished escape from everyday cares and troubles. Weekly Mass and Holy Communion acted as the mainstay of our progress and enriched our spiritual treasury.

Special devotion to Our Lady manifested itself during the months of October and May by the recitation of the rosary in homeroom period. The annual retreat during Holy Week provided weary souls with a much needed spiritual inventory. Under the direction of the retreat masters, practical guidance and food for thought were but two ways in which our hearts were lifted toward God.

Spot Light Events

A committee from the Middle Atlantic States Evaluating Board visited us April 7-9. This group of fifteen members was headed by Marshall L. Umpleby, headmaster of Englewood School for Boys. Following a greeting by student officers at the Main Entrance, the inspectors trekked to the third floor faculty rooms to begin a busy three days. Board members constantly toured the building and attended classes, carefully observing available facilities, both curricular and extracurricular. Individuals were interviewed to determine the students' attitude toward the school. The official report on their findings will not be received until later. Sister Mary Stephen S.N.D., a Central graduate, served on the committee.

The National Honor Society inaugurated its first year of active duty. Prexy Joseph McDermott got the ball rolling by suggesting an award of a traveling gold plaque given each quarter to the homeroom with the highest scholastic honors. The means to accomplish this goal was provided by a society sponsored cake sale at Farmer Kissinger Market on January 10. All termed the sale a grand success, especially Joanne Lubas, winner of the cake donated by Schofer's Bakery.

Society members aided the Student Association by helping to direct traffic in the corridors.

With a blessing for the spectators, Cardinal O'Hara leaves the newly dedicated Our Lady of the Assumption Convent.

CLASSES

"Let the students become accustomed to the difficult work of the intellect." (Pope Pius XII)

Our classes provided us with the opportunity of learning the severity and necessity of work in order to enjoy the rights of living in society. Each forty-five minute class period proved a vital step in our quest for maturity and knowledge. Recognizing the variety of talent in its students, the school presented a program in which the value of both the modern scientific and the traditional cultural subjects was perfectly blended to provide for our complete development. Constantly we exercised our intellects, whose view surveyed the created universe and crossed the skies, yearning to contemplate God. We, the new youth, opened ourselves to the spirit of Christianity and felt the power of that one universal love which gathers together all the peoples of the world in the one Lord.

Spiritual tidbits by P. Lawlor highlight Junior pamphlet time.

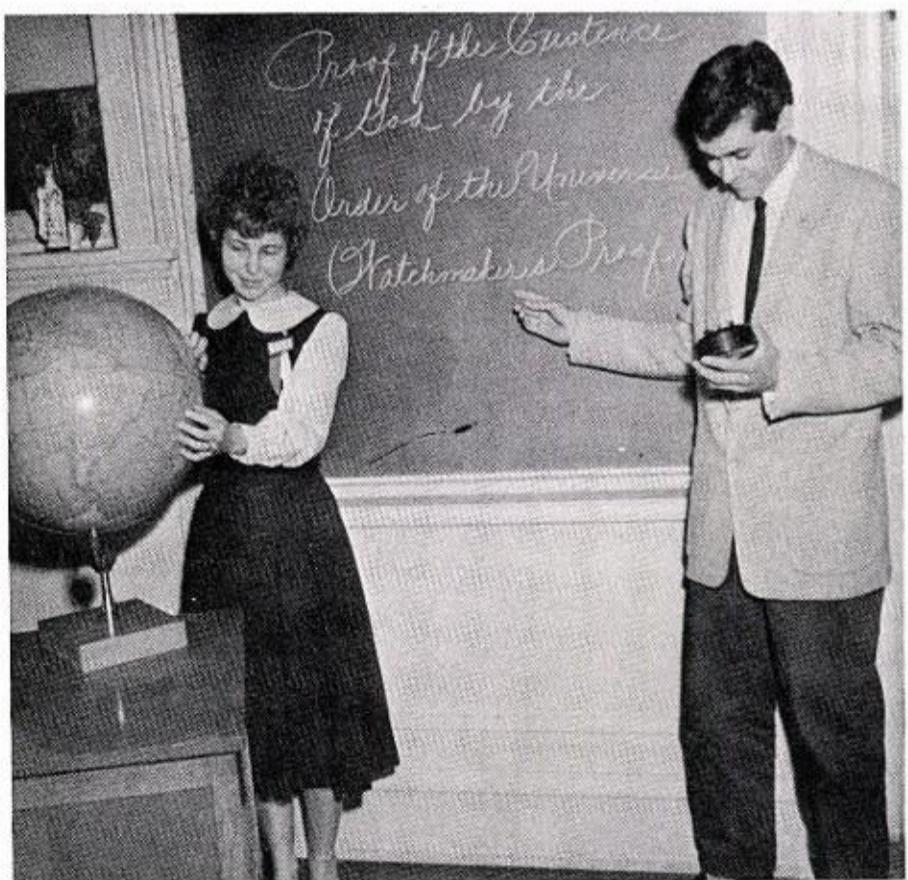

For Time and Eternity

Of the utmost importance in our transition to adult Catholic citizens were our religion classes. High school days found us comprehending more fully and clearly the Divine Truths of God and His Church. To combat the false materialistic philosophy of the present day we were well grounded in the workings of our faith.

Freshmen eyes focused on the inspiring life of Christ, while Sophomores turned their attention to the growth and development of the Mystical Body. As Juniors, the daily religion periods were spent expanding and summarizing the moral code present in the Ten Commandments and the precepts of the Church. Finally, as Senior year brought us to the threshold of the adult world, we delved into the reasonable explanation of our Catholic truths of faith.

Religious education does not end with graduation for it will be our passport to eternal salvation.

"The Watchmaker's Proof" affords P. Dengler and P. Schulze a cogent argument for the existence of God.

Freshmen thespians P. Garito and M. Barrasso dramatize "The Barefoot Boy".

Do's and Don'ts

Dramatization of various chapters of required readings may not have merited any Oscars, but they stimulated an interest in the different phases of the literary field. Besides providing entertainment, films of David Copperfield, Treasure Island, Tales of Two Cities, and records of Macbeth and Julius Caesar also helped the students to augment their understanding and appreciation of literature. Vocabulary Builders introduced into all the English classes this year proved beneficial in familiarizing students with a wider scope of the English language.

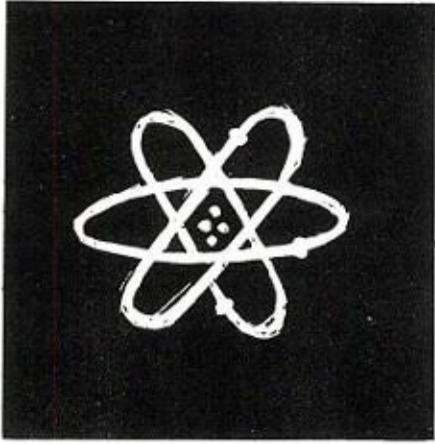

While Seniors desperately attempted to organize their inevitable term papers, Juniors recorded their memoirs in autobiographies, and Sophomores concentrated on composing booklets about Shakespeare. Freshmen were introduced to their heritage of American literature and made a collection of poems by Longfellow, Poe and other well loved writers of early America. Through the reading of classics and modern day books we found a new realm of interest opened to us.

Diggin' through the files are Senior researchers F. Vath and K. Nawa.

Number, Please!

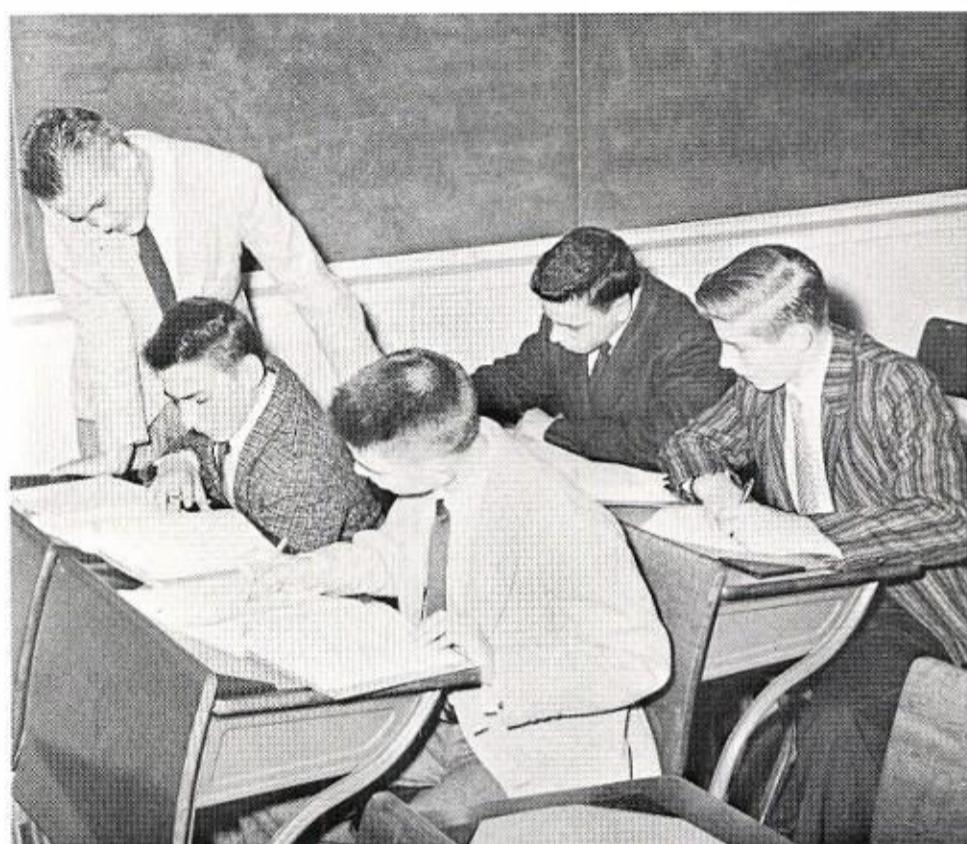

The Class of '61 was the first to benefit from the new biology laboratory. Formica topped tables, modern plastic covered chairs, and electrical outlets for microscopes provide convenience for the biologists. Specimens discussed during the week were viewed under microscopes during the weekly lab periods. Sophomores also point with pride to the array of turtles, lizards, snakes, and tropical fish which abide in Room 204.

Science Clubs of America conducted the Science Talent Search for Westinghouse Science scholarships and awards annually. Ten Seniors entered the nationwide contest and took preliminary examinations on December 23. Partial preliminary requirement was a report entitled "My Scientific Project."

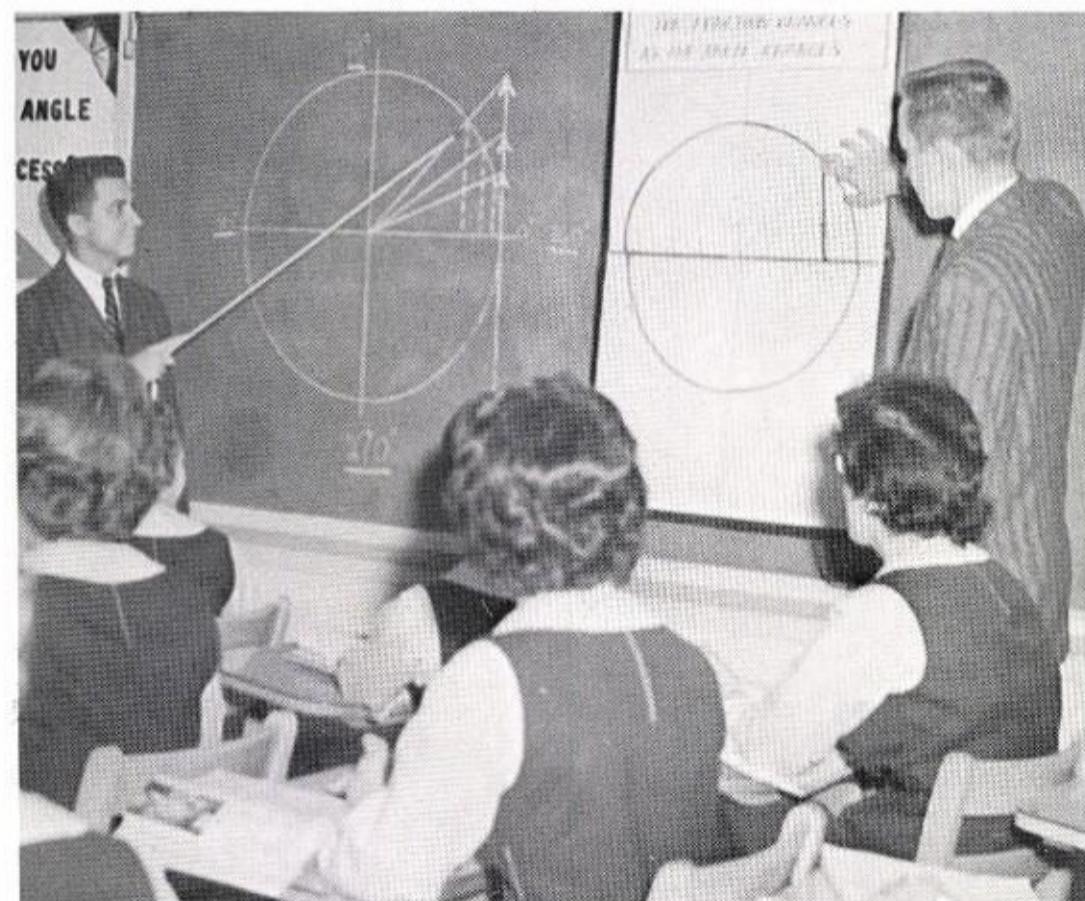

The newspapers "Science World" and "Scientific America" aided physics students to broaden their field of scientific knowledge.

Innovations in the Mathematics Department included a pegboard which proved invaluable as a visual aid.

The 1959 Mathematics Contest, sponsored jointly by the Mathematical Association of America and the Society of Actuaries, afforded Juniors and Seniors an opportunity to test their skills.

To Bind Us Together

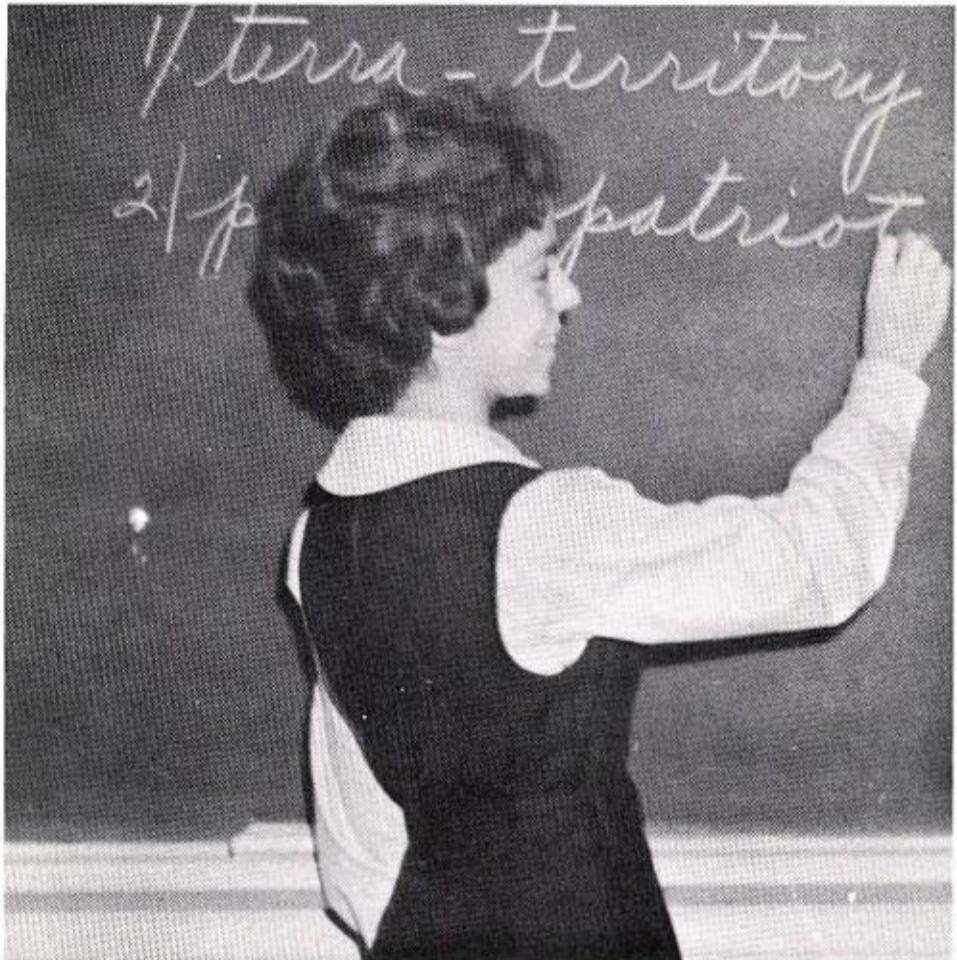

Projects and assemblies highlighted the year for Central's linguists and historians. Senior Espanol students presented a P.A.S. program "Our Lady of Guadalupe" on December 11. Sister Roselda's thespians also resumed the practice of projecting Spanish customs through a Spanish Assembly.

The promise of a contest found French II students constructed colorful projects to depict various phases of French life. James Best's entry—a farm scene—received the most votes and was declared the winner.

B. Garhammer and R. Steinhause "combine forces" to explain World War II strategies.

Brushing Up

Furnishing appropriate background for the Annual Spring Musicale was the biggest project of the Art Department this year. Under the supervision of an expert art instructor, they also provided pep club posters, Junior and Senior prom decorations, and fashion show designs.

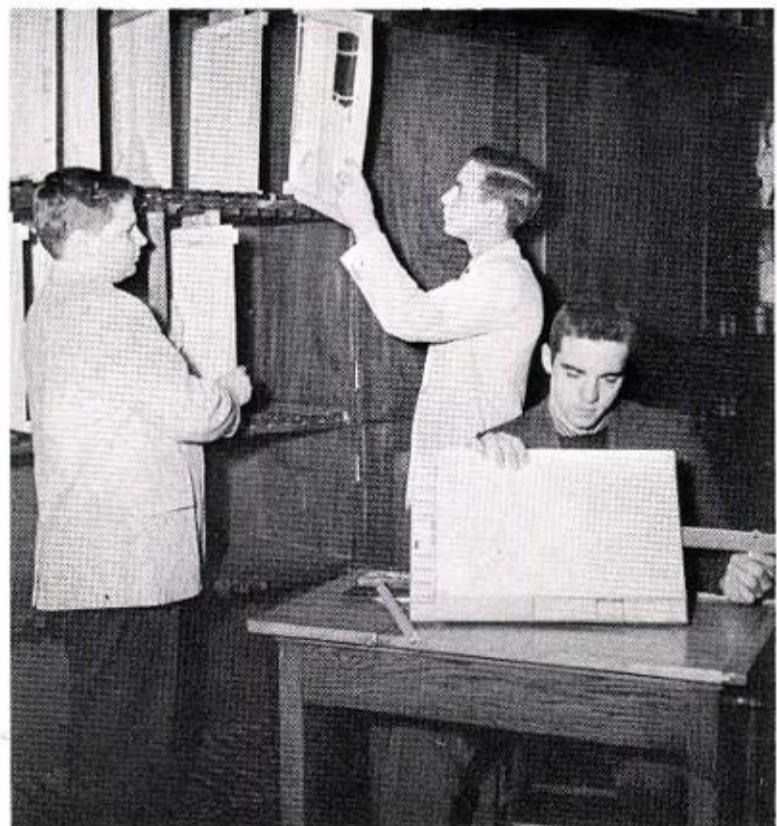

In opaque coloring, a panorama of the Holy Family formed the Senior students' addition to the Christmas Assembly. Juniors painted a wall length mural of the Nativity scene which graced the rear of the Art Room. Underclassmen contributed Japanese Christmas lanterns, a 3-D tree, angel designs, and a variety of Christmas ornaments.

A tour of the museum's art gallery gave the young connoisseurs a chance to examine and compare the different exhibits, while the nation-wide traffic poster contest presented the opportunity for our artists to submit their talent to competition.

Cookie Corner

The members of the Home Economics Department completed a busy schedule of activities this past year. Sophomore girls busied themselves with designing puppets and writing scripts to be used in the production of their own shows. Juniors used their creative abilities to design and sew attractive aprons. Once again the Senior homemakers sponsored their annual Christmas luncheon which included a buffet spread and an entertainment program.

Topics dealing with home management and the relation of the home to the community provided the nucleus of the course. Educational lectures, films, and tours afforded invaluable information on related topics.

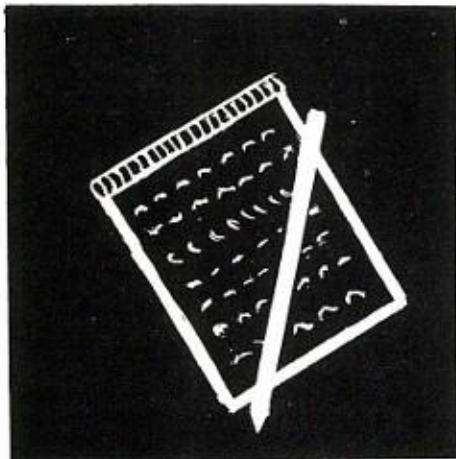

Christine High, an academic lassie, received this year's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow award. She attained the highest score in a fifty minute written examination on homemaking knowledge taken by graduating Senior girls. The test was composed and judged by Science Research Associates. Tina's paper was entered in competition with those of other school winners in the state.

Business Boosters

Telephones, typewriters, stenography books, and mimeograph machines—all are familiar sights to the future executives of the business world. Under the watchful eyes of Sister Marianette, Sister Carletis, and Sister Frances, the commercial students are introduced to the most modern and efficient methods of business practices.

A tour of the Bell Telephone Company demonstrated the practical uses of text book theories.

An aptitude test was given to each of the students by the Employment Bureau. From the results, suggestions were made by a representative of the company concerning the type of work that each student was best suited to do.

Ambitious underclassmen sparkled in many fields this year.

Bruce Adams, stalwart quarterback, received mention on Salesianum's all-opponent football squad. HILLSIDE ECHOES awarded first place in poetry to Judy Kelly for "Mary's Hidden Cross". In November, a six point lead surged the Junior Rodents over the Rebels for the intramural basketball crown. Juniors also captured four starting berths on the varsity basketball team. First to be awarded the National Honor Society scholastic plaque was Junior I. Pat Hartgen and Pam Andresen paraded the latest in Spring fashions in the Miss Beteena Contest. Orators at our annual press conference were journalists James Mason, Ann Ertel, Judy Kelly, and Jack Schlegel.

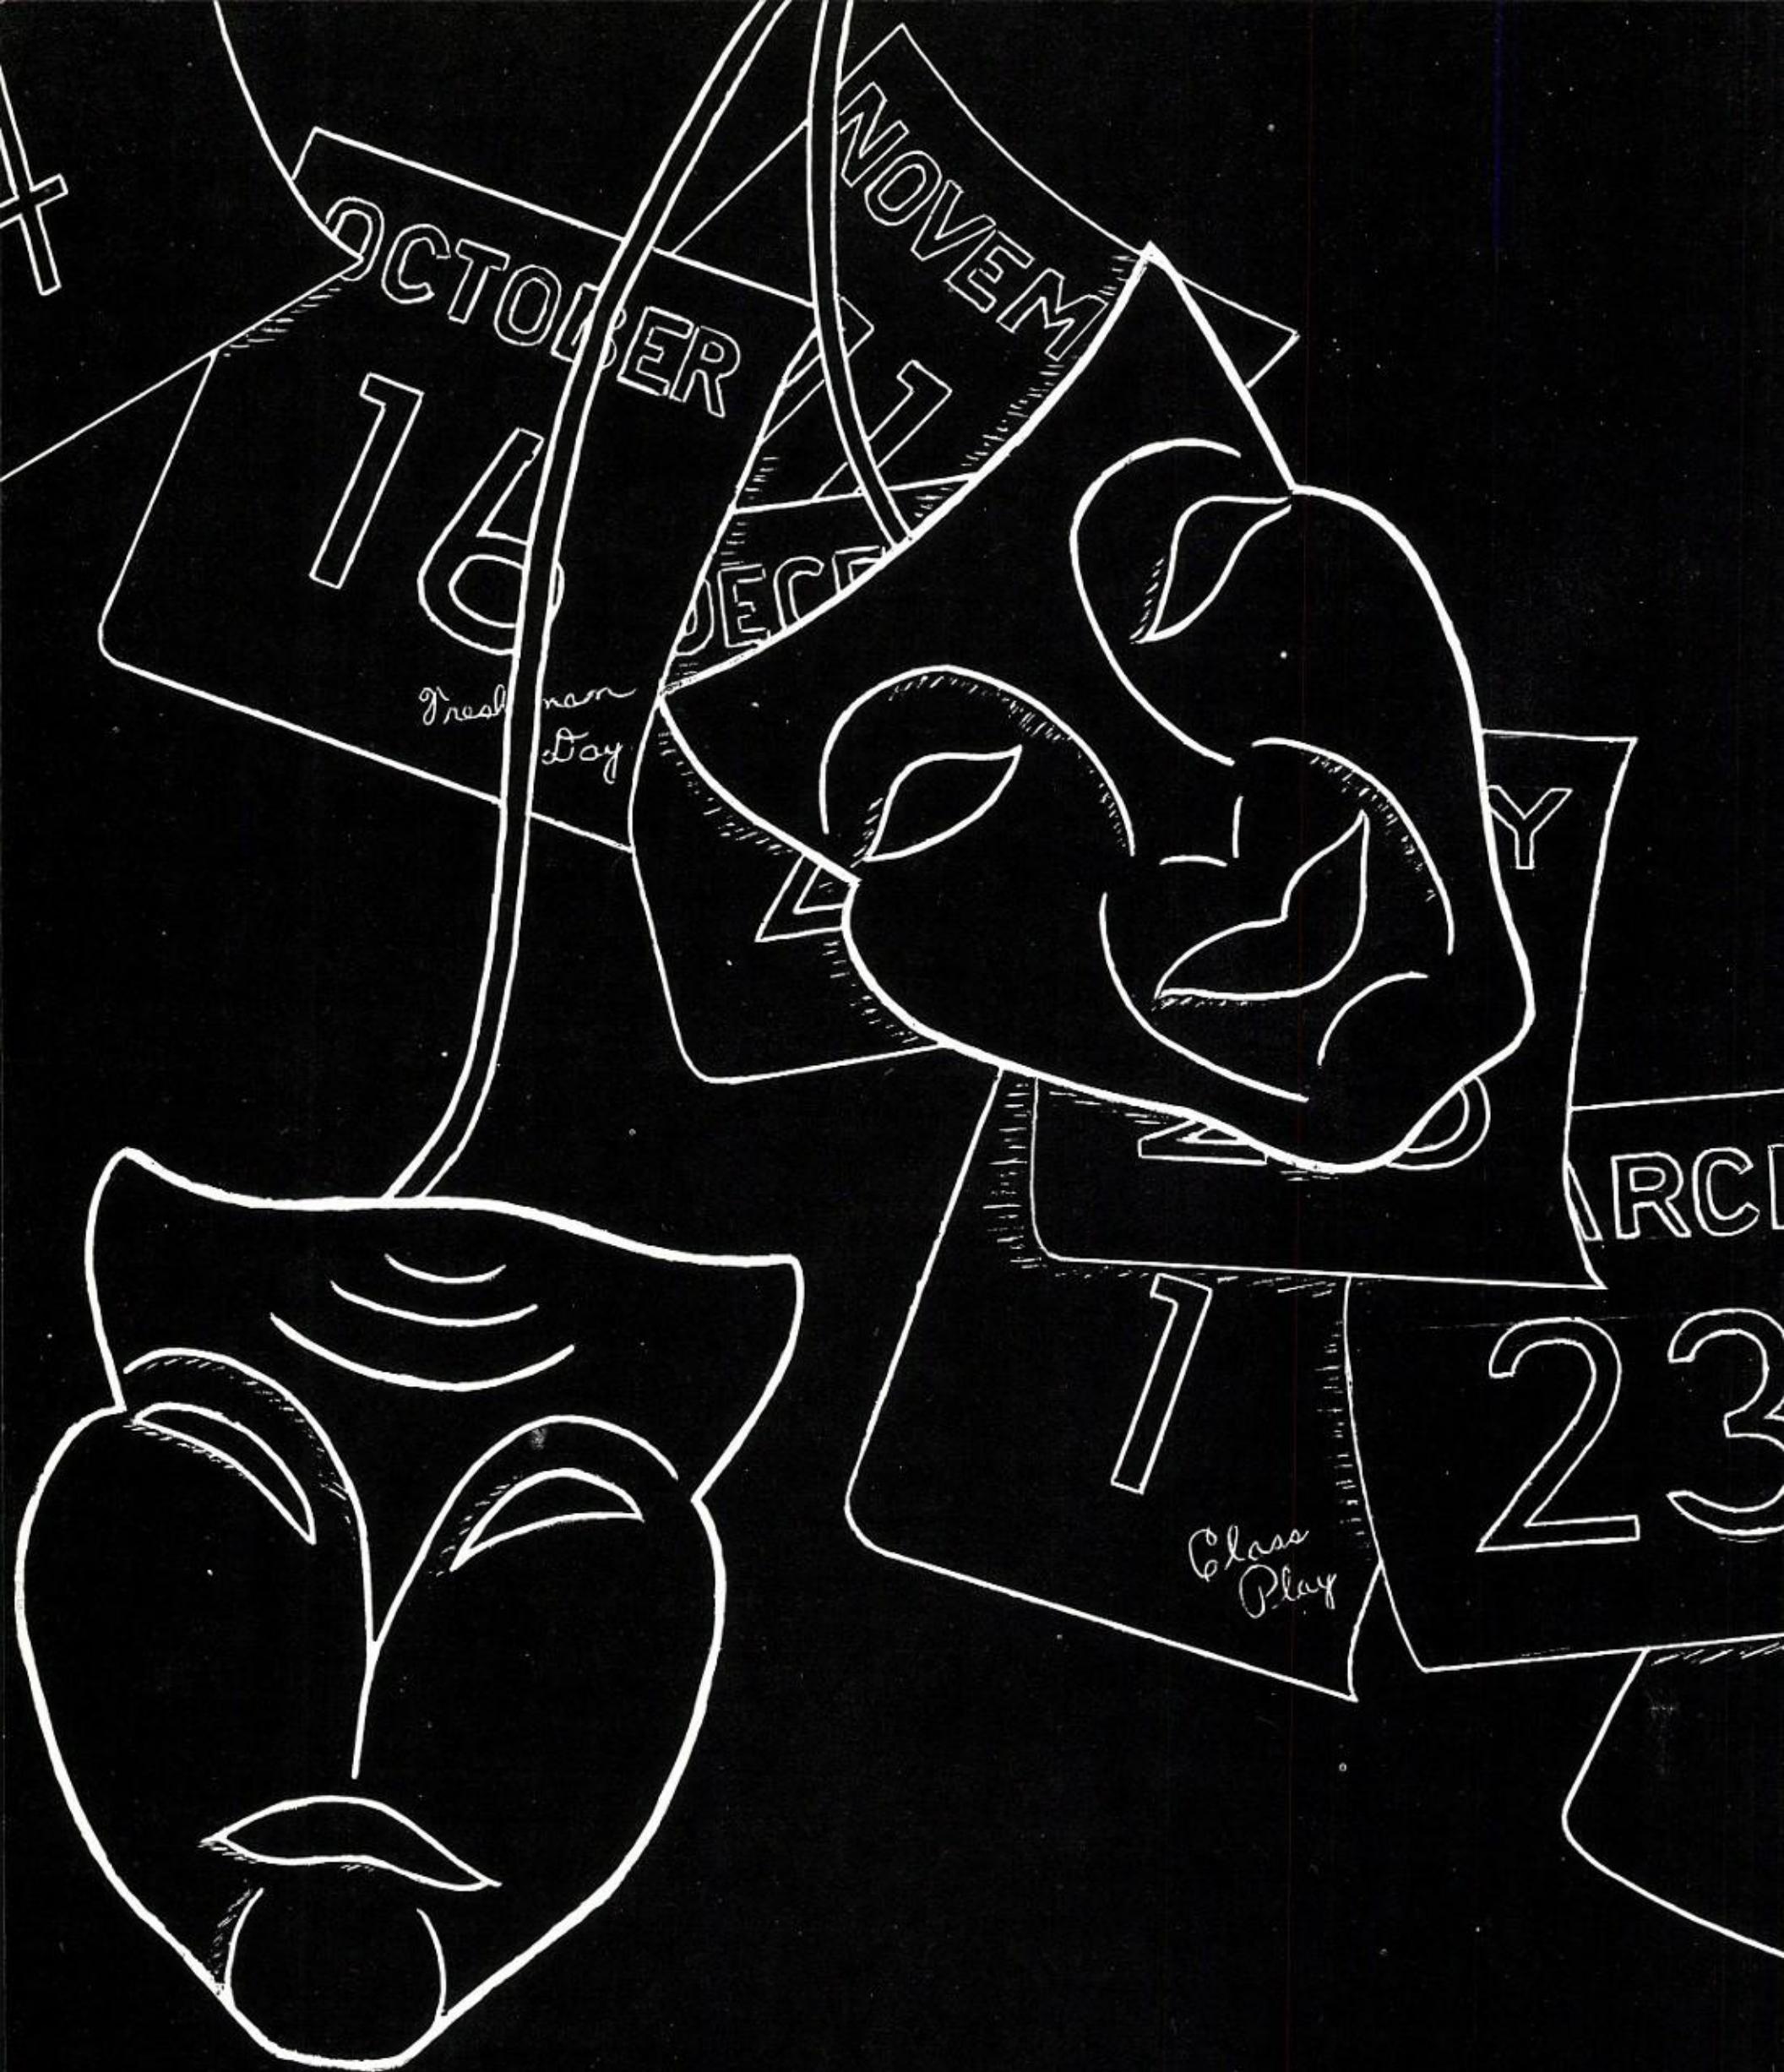

Sophomores entertained with skits and assemblies. The U. S. History Club, under the direction of Sister M. Thomas, presented a special assembly in honor of Abraham Lincoln. Cast members included Joseph Maxmillian, Kathleen Martin, and Joseph Maslar. Agnes James' $51 topped returns in the HILLSIDE ECHOES' subscription drive. Many rah rabs went out to Mike "Razz", football and baseball prodigy. Mike Schorn graduated to varsity hoopster and earned a starting position.

During February "street corner chats" by the freshmen enlightened upperclassmen on the phases of the Catholic press. Diane Trout skyrocketed to a high scorer on the girls' basketball team. "Young America Speaks," a literary anthology, featured the essays of Katherine Mayo and James Klick.

FEATURES

"We have never ceased to insist on the principle that the order of God embraces the whole of life . . ." (Pope Pius XII)

Among the most difficult lessons to be gleaned during our years of growing-up were those of dealing with our fellowmen in a truly Christian spirit. Proms and record dances, while providing entertainment, also proved a practical initiation into the social world. On Freshman Day we experienced the heady delight of ruling. But, we also recognized the weighty responsibility which accompanies every right. Developing our projects for the science fair afforded a healthy outlet for our initiative. We came to value honest criticism and to pool our ideas. Our voices blended in hymns of praise to Our Lady during our final participation in the annual May crowning. With Mary as our patroness and protector, we are well equipped with a great spiritual power to face the difficulties and joys of daily living.

The radiant twosome seated on gilded thrones are royalty B. Adams and J. Kelly.

Members of the construction crew add last minute touchups before Prom time.

Fantasia

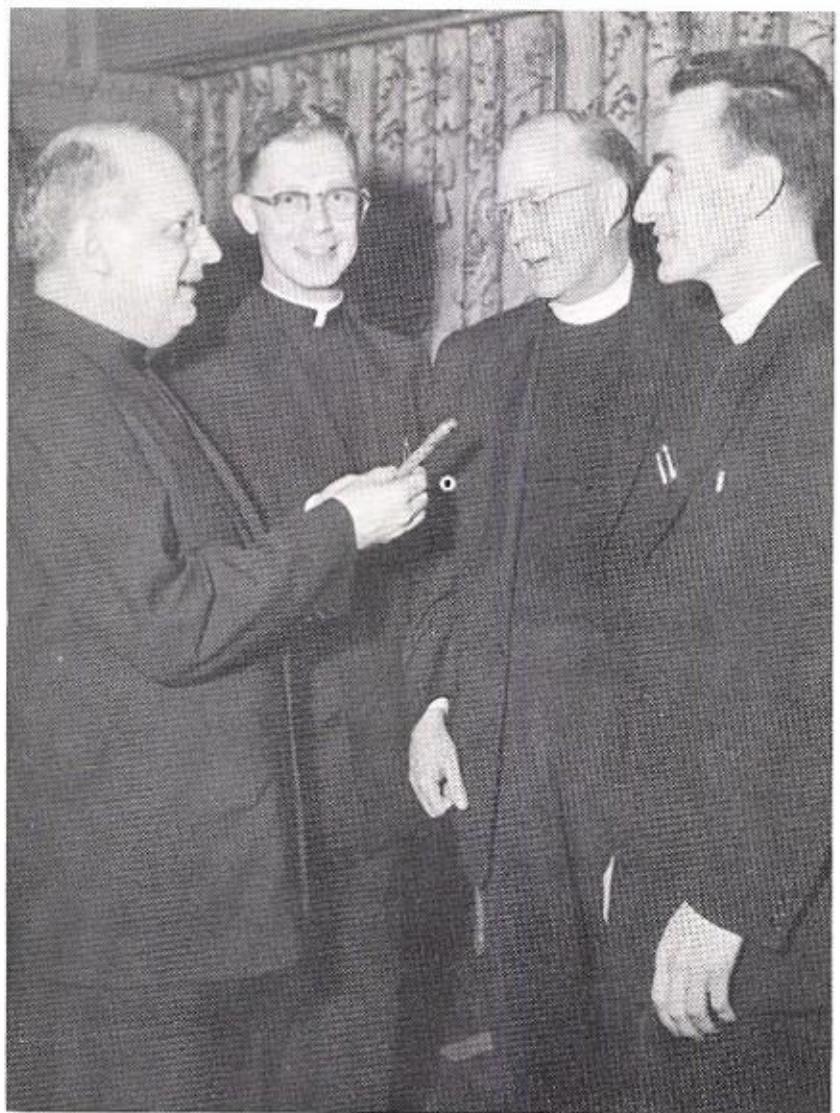

With the approach of January 23, excitement mounted among Centralites, for Junior Prom time had arrived. Accompanied by the melody of rustling skirts and laughing voices, the music of Wally Spotts' Orchestra pleasantly engulfed the couples as they mounted the stairway to the Berkshire Hotel Ballroom.

This year's theme, "Fantasia", was vividly presented by paintings and mobiles suspended throughout the room. The center of attraction was a plastic cloud which sprinkled the merry-makers with a shower of colored balloons.

To climax a perfect evening, the Junior Class selected as their royalty, Bruce Adams and Judith Kelly.

At your service, Madam! J. Daly assists L. Calabrese with her coat.

Father Leichner uses his "Havana" to emphasize a point during chaperone confab.

Taking a breather are committee chairmen P. Fox, J. Kelly, B. Adams, and B. Buckley.

... but the melody lingers on.

The Green Year

A maze of class hats greeted green bows and matching ties on October 16. Set aside exclusively for Seniors and the Freshmen, this special day was climaxed by an hour long initiation ceremony. Much to the delight and amusement of the Seniors, the still green Frosh jumped in obedience to the commands of their superior upperclassmen.

An added attraction this year was the hula hoop. Red faces followed unsuccessful attempts to keep the elusive hoops in motion. Other entertainment included a mock revival ceremony, music by the band, and an appropriate song by the Senior Bel-Tones.

At the close of this diverting rally, Freshmen raised their heads in pride as the name "Centralite" was bestowed upon them.

Your slip is showing! Under J. Krupa's watchful eye, D. Bausher prepares to Beat the Clock.

Jovial Freshmen limber up with the Can-Can.

Succumbing to the whim of an omnipotent Senior, F. Muhlenberg proclaims his subjection.

It's only a blindfold which prevents P. Krall from filling her cotton ball bag.

Only 1,561 more thimblefuls and S. Jackson's laborious task will be accomplished.

Nonchalant R. Impink takes M. Kopel's proposal very lightly.

"The Night They Invented La Coke", Mademoiselles Wagner and Swienckowski warble their own version of the popular song.

The Ricky Nelson of Mexico, A. Marella, accompanied by T. Dobrosky on the sticks and J. Meridionale on the morroccos, serenade with "O Margarita."

Pan American dancer J. McGettigan, gives a lesson in the cha cha to songstresses S. Frank, C. Rosol, and J. Krupa.

Our manned bull prepares to charge for matador W. Rodriguez and his scarlet cape.

Gym Dandies

This year Central's faculty members scheduled an entertaining and educational program of assemblies, in which the students took active part.

The annual French Assembly was again a big hit, having for its setting a typical French cafe. The Spanish Assembly, being held for the first time after a lapse of several years, offered free admission to the bull ring and caused much laughter among the audience. From our History department came the Abraham Lincoln Assembly, paying homage to "Honest Abe", our sixteenth president. The school orchestra, band, and Bel-Tones produced a beautiful Christmas Assembly, instilling everyone with the true spirit of the season. A guest speaker and assistants enlightened students and faculty on the latest scientific happenings, demonstrating and explaining mechanical devices and experiments for all to view.

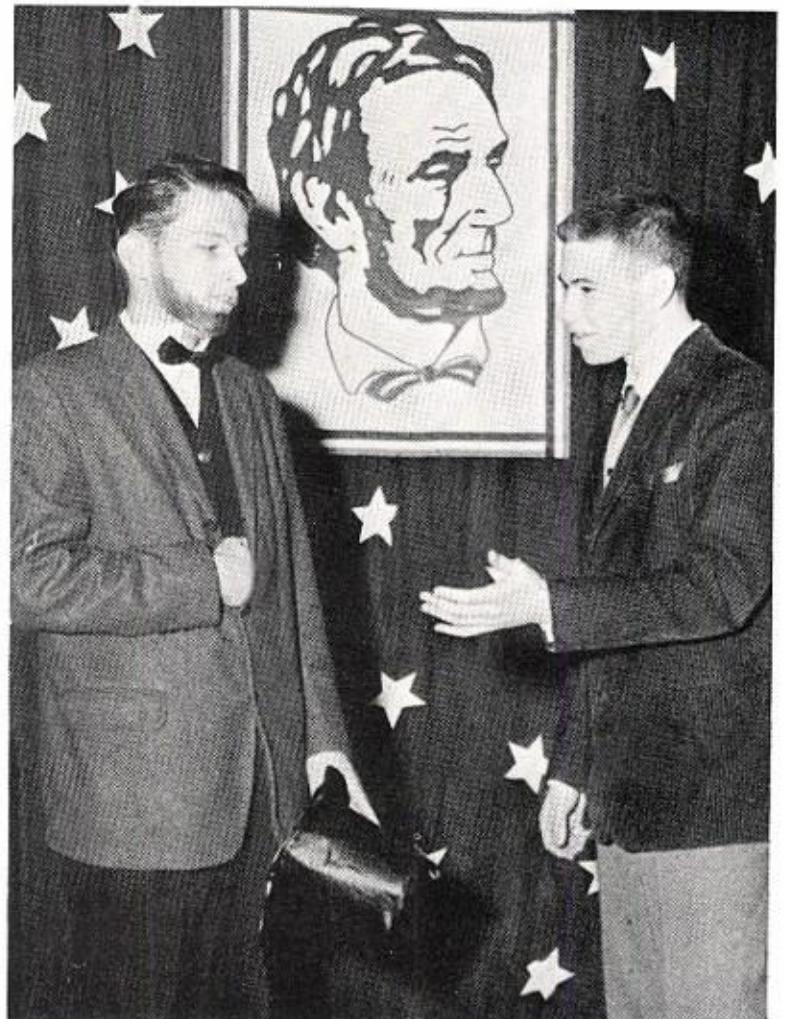

T. Curtin thanks heaven for little girls, especially Suzie, perched on his knee.

Assembled in the Cafe Moulin Rouge is the excellent cast of "April in Paris", an original play presented by the French students.

Experiencing their first taste of freedom, the emancipated Negroes, M. Curran, D. Humma, J. Maslar, D. Franchi, M. Deakyne, give praise to "Massa Lincum."

Secretary Seward (J. Bachman) and President Lincoln (N. Nigrini) discuss the current war problem in the Lincoln Assembly dramatized by the Sophomores.

Quiet now, and Sakini (G. Young) will take you behind the curtain to "The Teahouse of the August Moon."

The Teahouse of the August Moon

Adding a touch of Oriental to G. Spolski is production assistant M. Horrigan.

Geisha girls, potato brandy, and August moons provided the theme for the Senior Class stage production entitled "The Teahouse of the August Moon." George Young, John Sylvester, Hedwig Gmeiner, and James Davidheiser had title roles supported by an all-Senior cast. The plot of this John Patrick hit is centered around the efforts of the well-meaning but bungling army Captain Fisby (James Davidheiser) to organize the Okinawan village of Tobiki, and the antics of his impish interpreter Sakini (George Young). Colonel Purdy (John Sylvester), who had commissioned Captain Fisby to "put that village on the map" had serious doubts as to Fisby's success. However, with the ensuing performance of the cast, music by the Solidaires between acts, and the expert direction of Father Bednarik, the Senior class play was a decided success.

Curtain call—a time for joy and tears.

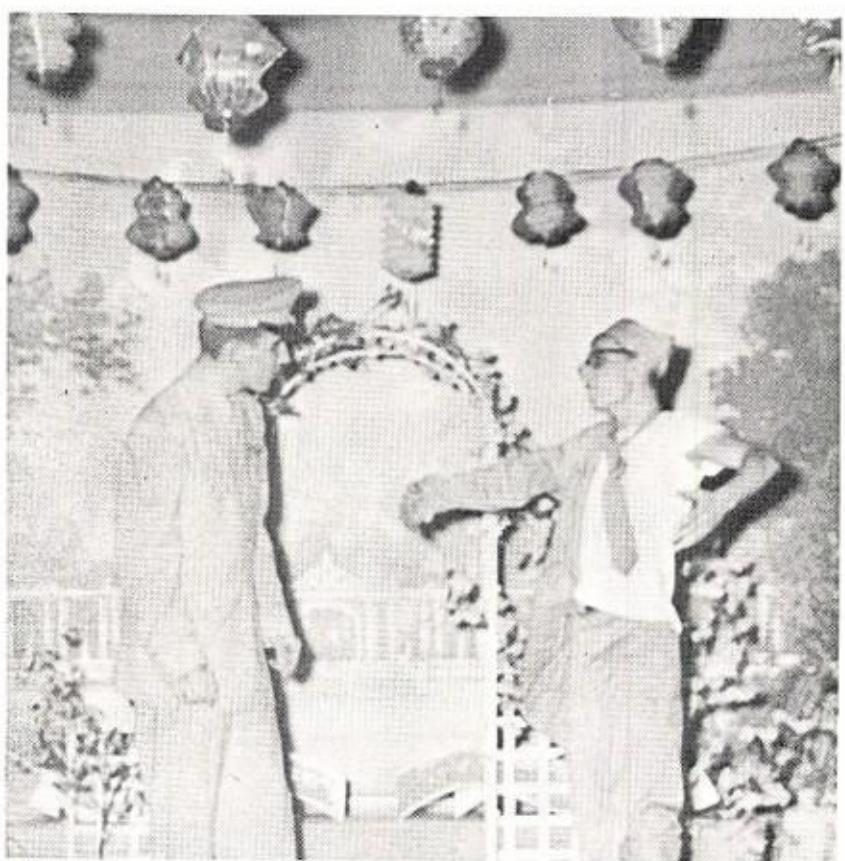

With a puzzled look Capt. Fisby (J. Davidheiser) accepts gift of an empty cricket cage from the villagers of Tobiki before delivering the message of Plan B.

Wrestlers Mr. Hokaido (C. Meter) and Mr. Seiko (W. Blekicki) provide entertainment at teahouse opening.

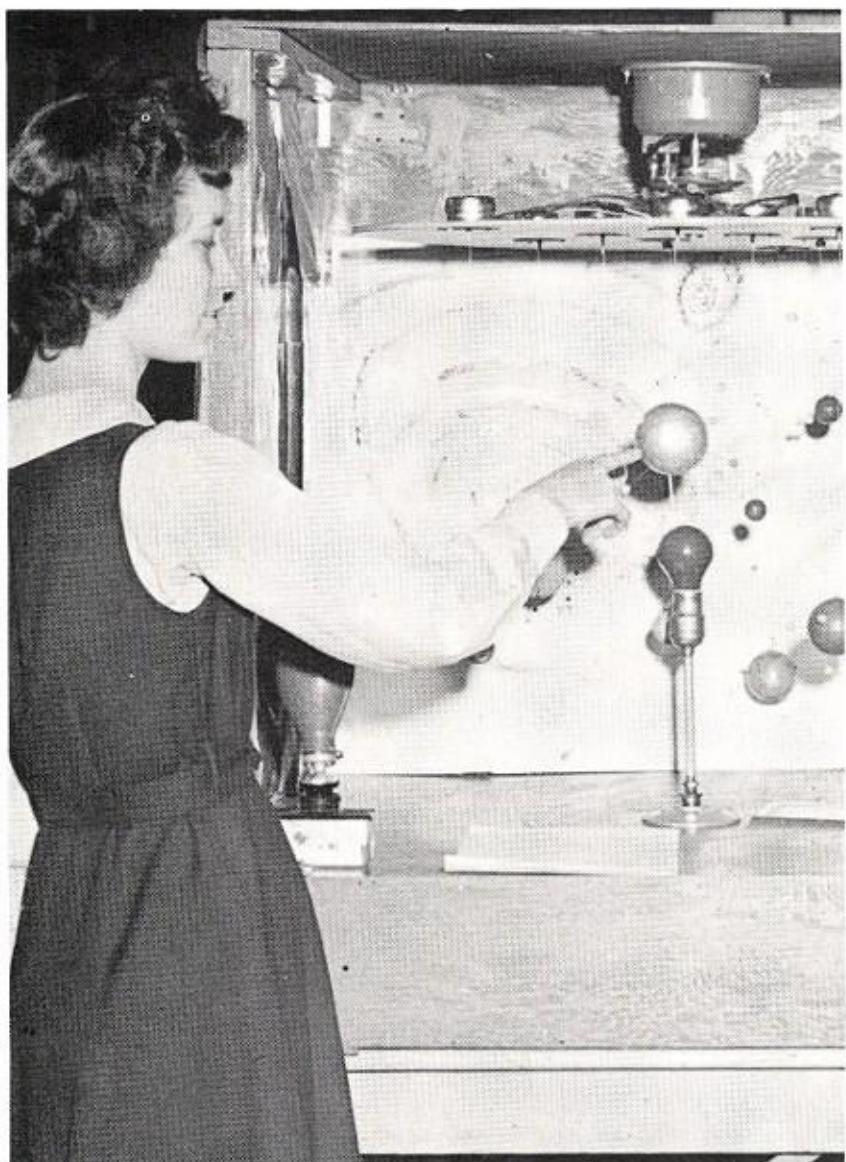

"Oii, Oii!" shouts Sakini. Old woman perched atop make-shift jeep is E. McGlinn.

Sgt. Gregovich (J. Delp) relates to boss, Col. Purdy (J. Sylvester), and a captivated audience his heady experience of falling into the potato brandy vat.

R. Duchynski and R. Tucker, spectators at the school science fair, admire T. O'Malley's "Air Lift".

Explaining the cycle of the solar system, D. Napiecek points out one of the larger planets.

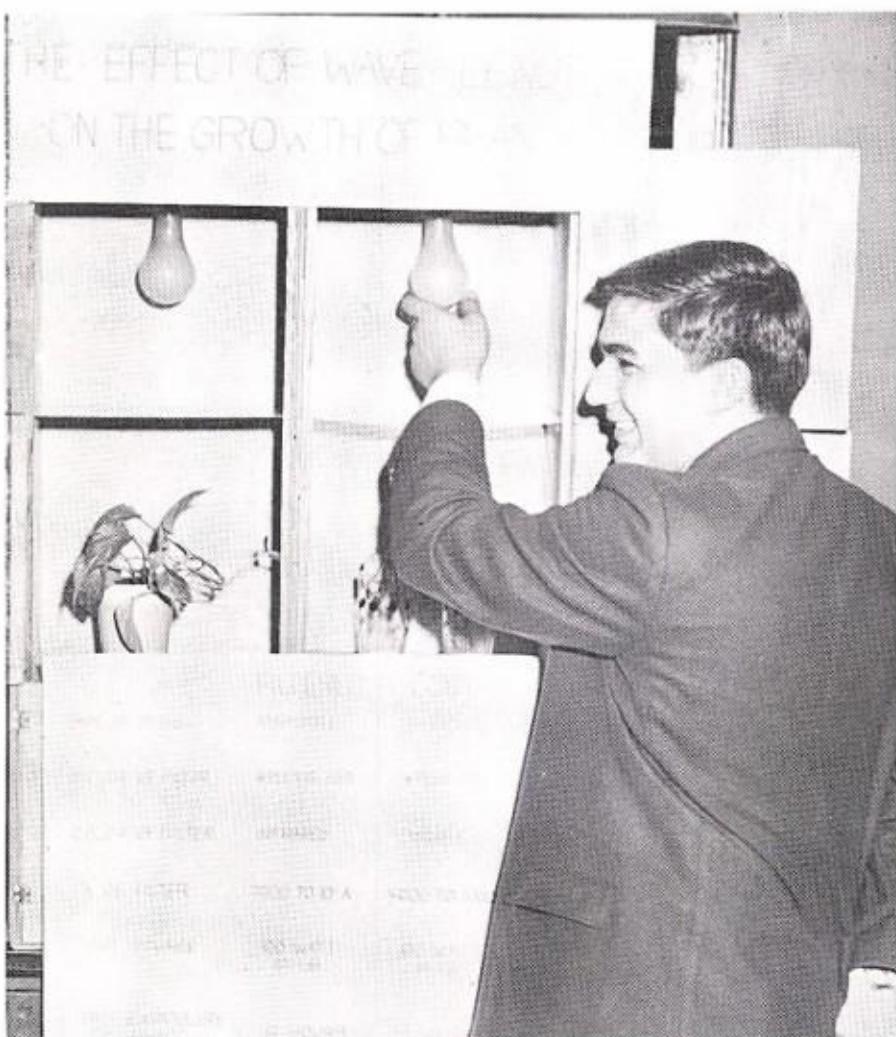

County Fair

The winner and Grand Champion of the seventh annual Reading-Berks Science Fair—George Post. This ambitious Junior, exemplifying ideas gleaned from a book he read, collected the $250 Berks County Medical Society Scholarship Grant and a berth in the National Science Fair at Hartford, Connecticut on May 6 to 9. In addition, an engraved plaque was awarded to the Grand Champion and to the school.

Approximately 1500 persons witnessed the presentation of awards at the Albright College Field House on April 8. Boisterous applause from our multitudinous cheering section greeted each naming of a Hill Road winner. In all we copped 62 per cent of the prizes.

Dolores Napiecek and Martin Langan were among those to receive scholarship offers for their scientific bonanzas.

Because of a new ruling, Central's quota of entries was limited to 74 based on past participation. Elimination of projects in the form of a school science fair was held in the gym on February 20. All students who entered were awarded Certificates of Achievement in recognition of the time and effort put into their projects.

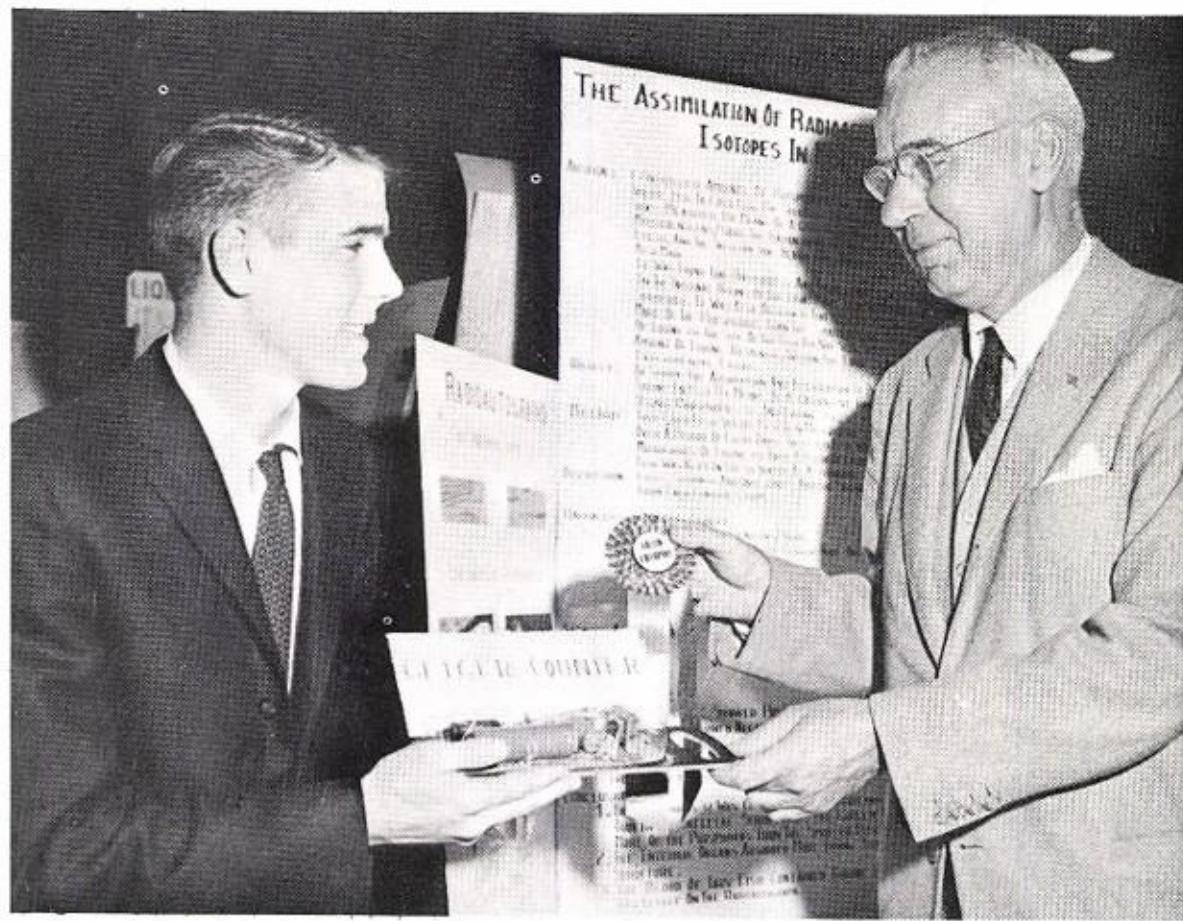

A little light on the subject furnished by N. Troilo enlightens many on plant growth processes.

Heartiest congratulations to Science Fair Grand Champion, G. Post, from Mr. C. Eisenbrown, Fair Director and Dr. J. Feemen, Chairman of Judging Committee.

Nothing fishy here! G. Post offers his prize project and medal to his father for inspection.

Proudly displaying his ribbon, J. Pietruszynski receives congratulations from Sister Davidica.

A lively discussion about one of Central's winning entries occupies the attention of P. Bausman, K. Bagdon, and K. Crossland.

P. LaManna discovers that Gibberellic Acid is also a stimulant for smiles.

SENIOR DIVISION

First Place:

G. Post Zoology
D. Napiecek Physiography

Second Place:

D. Kendig Zoology

Third Place:

M. Allison Chemistry
P. LaManna Botany

Fourth Place:

M. Langan Zoology
P. Oswald Physiography
T. Hehn Chemistry
H. Stephens Botany

Fifth Place:

R. Tucker Zoology
M. Titus Physiography
J. Lubas Chemistry
N. Troilo Botany

Honorable Mention:

J. Sirak, J. Kelly
P. Bausman, K. Crossland
F. Diana, K. Bagdon
R. Tomaszewski, S. Wasickanin

Taking time to check on Central's achievements in past Science Fairs are J. Kelly, M. Titus, J. Lubas, and D. Napiecek.

JUNIOR DIVISION

First Place:

L. Noon and P. Wendell Physiography
I. Endter and M. Dolan Physical Science

Second Place:

J. Frantz and T. Blaum Biology

Third Place:

D. Henry Aeronautics

Honorable Mention:

P. LaFata, J. Bussinger
M. Kopel, J. Pietruszyoski
J. Klick, M. Shaaber

With grins for the onlookers, M. Dolan and I. Endter stand ready to answer queries concerning their winning entry.

Freshmen winners P. Wendell, J. Frantz, T. Blaum, D. Henry and L. Noon examine the plants that aided J. Frantz and T. Blaum to carry off 2nd prize in botany for the Junior Division.

Orchestra members tune up with "Turkish March" at a Sunday afternoon rehearsal.

Lincolnaires

A. Dragan, T. Hehn, J. Stieff, J. Hershey, R. Young, and L. Laroche, student directors, register looks of anticipation while listening to Father Zolondek's directions.

With one swift downward stroke of the baton on May 13, the 1959 Musicale burst into melody. The large portrait of Lincoln which formed a major portion of the background gave proof that this year's presentation was to honor our sixteenth president in the sesquicentennial year of his birth.

The orchestra opened the program with Pique Dame. Next the Senior Girls' Chorus presented "Hi-Lili, Hi-Lo," while the Boys' Chorus contributed "Madame Jeanette" and "Marching Along Together." Part I was brought to a close by the Mixed Chorus' spirited rendition of "Clancy Lowered The Boom."

Other highlights included "Hush-a-bye" by the Junior Chorus, "Scarlet Ribbons" by the Bel-Tones, and band arrangements of the William Tell Overture, Valencio, and Johnny Peel.

In his cluttered office Father Zolondek sneaks a preview of the stage setting to L. Memmo, J. McGettigan, and L. Taubitz.

The melodious Bel-Tones take a breather during a harmonizing session.

Voices of the Mixed Chorus blend in "My Lord, What a Mornin'."

Climaxing the May Day ceremonies, J. Hershey places the floral crown upon our Blessed Mother.

Under the spacious cherry tree the May attendants stand. J. Reddington, J. Wagner, B. Smith, J. Schlacter, J. Venzke, C. High, J. Cimochowski, J. Hershey, T. Schwegmann, D. Horrigan, P. Eisenhuth, M. Brown, C. Nawa, J. Wagner, M. Latze, H. Gmeiner, and M. Carey.

O Mary, We Crown Thee

Seventeen Senior girls were chosen in homeroom elections to form the May court in our annual procession. These girls, in turn, selected Judith Hershey for their queen.

Voices of the students blended in Marian hymns—"Immaculate Mary" and "Hail Holy Queen." Each girl's offering of an old fashioned bouquet formed part of a large M in honor of Mary.

The Act of Consecration and the Litany of Our Lady followed by Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament brought the annual solemnity to a holy ending.

J. Cimochowski and J. Hershey supply last minute details before procession time. Bottom Row: M. Carey, H. Gmeiner, J. Reddington, J. Wagner, T. Schwegmann, J. Venzke, P. Dengler, M. Latze. Top Row: D. Horrigan, J. Wagner, M. Brown, C. Nawa, C. High, B. Smith, J. Schlacter, P. Eisenhuth.

May Queen, 1959

Thus Do We Pray

May Thy presence, O Lord, like a gentle breeze, accompany us on our way in the midst of a world of unrest and violence. May Thy unspotted purity, like a heavenly dawn, never vanish from our sight in the midst of the vulgarities with which the prevailing materialism assails us and attempts to blind us. May Thy almighty and gentle power sustain our frailty with its unfailing support, and rescue our weakness from the web of malice and deceit with which the world would ensnare us. (Pope Pius XII)

A Note from the Editor

Knowledge is power. Throughout the past nine months the vastness of this phrase has approached me in numerous and various situations. Time and again, in the face of consternation, it had served impressively both as a reminder and an encouragement to persist and experiment in all undertakings.

With the echoing of these words I find in our publication the basis of a milestone—a marker by which those in the midst of their stride toward a goal can pause with pride to recount the breadth of their progress. For others it will serve as an example and inspiration for the enrichment and betterment of their ideals.

It is with undying gratitude I acknowledge the invaluable efforts of:

Sister M. Magdalaine, our tireless moderator
The diligent and capable Senior Staff
The Senior Class for their generous financial cooperation
Fr. Leichner for his patience, generosity, and interest
Sister Anne Marie for her interested criticisms of the art work.
